United States Not To Give Up Pacific Islands

Pronouncement Of U. S. Policy Takes United Nations Delegates By Surprise

U. S. WILL CONTROL WAR TAKEN ISLANDS (BULLETIN)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—(INS)—Nikolai Novikov, Russian ambassador to the United States, was enroute to New York by plane from Washington today to challenge the American formula for either acquiring a United Nations trusteeship over strategic Pacific Islands or hold them regardless.

By GEORGE DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Pronouncement by the United States she will either take over control of Pacific islands, won in bloody beachhead battles, under a United Nations "strategic" trusteeship, or hold them regardless, threw the UN general assembly into an apparent momentary tailspin today.

The 51-member world body had planned a plenary session for this morning. Last night, after America's "take-it-or-leave-it" policy on bases in the Pacific, the full meeting was postponed for 24 hours until Saturday.

Islands Involved

Islands involved included the Gilberts, Carolines and Marianas, with future consideration of Iwo Jima and Okinawa which paved the last step in the defeat of Japan.

Opposition to the decision of the United States unquestionably was going to be strenuous—particularly from Soviet Russia and her satellites; the so-called Arab league, and possibly others.

Nevertheless, basing action on the old philosophy that "possession is nine points of the law," the United States intends to continue to maintain.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa. News notes that postal authorities have installed a large new mail box at the corner of East Washington and East streets. Previously a small box attached to a post was used by patrons at the busy intersection.

Pa. News notes on numerous calendars about city business houses that November 21 is marked in red, indicating that the calendars were made before the edict came out changing the observance of Thanksgiving back to the last Thursday of November. Thanksgiving, this year, will be observed on November 28.

Pa. News noted a sign in a local store marked "Italian Chestnuts" with a basket of large chestnuts underneath. A blight, a number of years ago destroyed all the chestnut trees in this area, with the result chestnuts are being imported from other countries.

Pa. News noted a local resident giving the lawn the last going over with a lawn mower, for the season, during the past few days. This probable establishes a new record for late operation of a lawn mower in this area.

Football Crowd Adds To New York's Problem

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Football fans flocking to New York for tomorrow's highly publicized Notre Dame-Army game were confronted today with a topsy-turvy situation that had many of them dizzy.

Those who have surmised the problem of getting the highly-prized tickets for the game itself are having a big headache in their efforts to make it a real week-end in Little O' New York.

Reservations Impossible

Hotel reservations, unless made weeks ago, are impossible to get. Theater tickets for tonight and tomorrow night are sold out for virtually all shows. Liquor prices have taken a sudden jump. Night club reservations are almost impossible to get.

Ted Saucier, veteran publicity director of the Waldorf-Astoria, said he has "never seen anything like it."

"The Army-Notre Dame football game," he said, "is putting 100 times as much pressure on New York

United States Seeks Entrance Of Five Nations

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—(INS)—The United States will use its influence in the United Nations to try to get the security council to reconsider the membership applications of Eire, Portugal, Trans-Jordan, Albania and Outer Mongolia.

A spokesman for the American delegation announced that this decision was reached unanimously at a caucus at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York, early this morning.

America is trying to get the issue out of the general assembly and back into the security council where, under the UN charter, it properly belongs.

The new United States position does not bind this country to vote for or against any of the applicants although the United States probably would support all five on a bloc basis.

However, if the Soviet Union continues to oppose Eire and Portugal along the lines announced by Andrei A. Gromyko yesterday, the United States undoubtedly would vote against Albania and Outer Mongolia.

RFC Turns Down Loan For Homes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Reconstruction Finance Corporation announced today that it has turned down another 26 million dollars in loans to manufacturers of prefabricated houses.

Higgins planned to construct 15,000 prefabs by the end of 1947 and Reliance 31,000.

Foreign Ministers Council To Tackle Treaties For Italy

Trieste Issue Confronts Session Of Council Again This Afternoon

SEN. VANDENBERG WILL AID BYRNES

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—

The council of foreign ministers, meeting at 3:30 p. m. today to tackle three Italian treaty problems headed in importance by the statute of Trieste, will meet a strengthened American team in the continued participation of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Sources close to the United States group of the Big Four are convinced that Sen. Vandenberg, raised to extensive new political influence and prestige under the impact of the Republican election sweep, will continue to "sit in" during the remainder of the council meetings.

To Support Byrnes

The general belief is that Secretary of State James E. Byrnes can rest assured of Vandenberg's same cooperative and consultative support practiced in Paris.

Sen. Vandenberg already has publicly endorsed what he called "the United Bipartisan Foreign Policy," therewith somewhat allaying some anxiety in the minds of the foreign delegations that the "turn to the right" in the election might cause fundamental changes in the American policy.

Although the general interest among the council delegations is still focused on Vandenberg and his appearance at the round-table this

Molotov Makes Call On President Truman; Joins Soviet Celebration

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov was back in New York today but some of the best people in Washington were still dizzy from his whirlwind trip.

Molotov came to this politically upset capital Thursday afternoon to pay a "courtesy call" on President Truman and to preside over the Soviet Embassy's brilliant annual reception in honor of the great October Revolution of 1917 which swept the Soviet Union into power.

The celebration, honoring a day which, in Russian popular enthusiasm, ranks with the Fourth of July in the United States, was the first since the seeming friction between the eastern and western powers has developed.

The only evidence of friction at the Soviet party came at the laden tables where representatives of all nation rubbed elbows for a chance to celebrate.

Fewer invitations were sent out than during the hostilities when the many government officials with which Russia did wartime business were always on the "must" list. But only one of the floors of the spacious embassy, built as the residence of the founder of the Pullman parlor-car fortune, was thrown open instead of the usual three.

As a result, the four bars and two

Two Marine Captives Released In China

(BULLETIN)

PEIPING, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Marine headquarters announced today that the two U. S. marines held captive by a roving band of Chinese Communists since October 20 have been returned unharmed.

The marines are Sgt. Jack Lane of Hardin, Montana, and Sgt. R. C. Fellows of Freeville, N. Y.

They returned to marine headquarters at Tientsin after being released yesterday by Communists, who directed them to a railway station. There a station master placed them on a freight train for a 30-mile trip to Tientsin.

Treated Well

The marines said they had been treated "very good" by their captors, outside of the first day of their captivity, but had been kept on the move constantly by the roving band.

When they returned to Tientsin they were dirty from 18 days continuous travel in the North China wilderness.

Sgt. Lane declared:

"Outside of the first day, our captors gave us very good treatment. They merely threatened us because of their patrols had been fired upon when it endeavored to disarm our soldier hunting party of United States soldiers."

Lane and Fellows were among a group of marines, Russian civilians and a U. S. civilian employed by

Plan New Move To End Airline Strike

President Of Airline Pilots Union In Washington For Mediator Conference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—A new move to end the 19-day strike of Trans-world Airline pilots was expected today.

David L. Behncke, president of AFL Airline Pilots association, was in Washington reportedly ready for a conference with federal mediator Frank P. Douglass. Behncke told reporters, however, that he did not know what his plans for the day were.

Douglass said he had received no word from Behncke since the union chief issued a statement in Chicago yesterday.

The strike has tied up all TWA domestic and overseas operations and has caused the unpaid furlough of 15,000 employees, who in a telegram to Behncke today accused the union leader of "plutocratic autocracy."

The 14,000 pilots are asking top pay of 14,500 a year plus a $1,200 overseas differential for flying Lockheed Constellations.

The top request represents an increase of $2,000 yearly over the present maximum for TWA pilots.

Dewey Leaves For Georgia Vacation

ALBANY, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Governor Dewey, elated over his record-breaking majority but unwilling to discuss 1948 presidential ambitions, left Albany today for a post-election vacation in Georgia.

He told reporters that his majority, in excess of 684,000, was larger than he had anticipated, and he admitted he had read newspaper articles which stated that his landslide victory placed in the vanguard of possibilities for the 1948 Republican presidential nomination.

"Do you think they were wrong?" he was asked.

Barkley May Take Minority Leader Post

Senate Majority Leader For Past Nine Years Is Hit By Election

MANY PROBES ARE LIKELY TO OCCUR

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—

Senate Majority Leader Barkley was described today as willing to take the post of minority leader in the new GOP-controlled Senate where investigation of Democrats will be the order of the day.

The Kentucky Democrat, whose nine years as majority leader top the record of any predecessor, personally declined to make any statement on his plans.

Will Carry Ball

But it was learned on reliable authority that Barkley, veteran of many a legislative crisis, was ready to carry the ball for his party in what may prove to be the most trying two years of his experience.

This indication came on the heels of House Speaker Sam Rayburn's announcement that he would not step down to the job of House minority leader when the Republicans take over congressional control on January 3.

The scope of Republican investigation into the administrations of the late President Roosevelt and President Truman was sketched by Sen. Brewster (R., Maine), who is in line to head the Senate War Investigating committee next year.

Only Curtain Raiser

Brewster said past disclosures of the former Truman committee were "only a curtain raiser." Republicans, he declared, will spotlight the government's entire war spending.

Brewster said he wanted to see another Pearl Harbor inquiry to complete the "diplomatic record" in the 1941 Jap sneak attack. Barkley was chairman of the joint congressional committee which in-

Find Skeleton Of Hunter Near His Bedford Farm

BEDFORD, Pa., Nov. 8.—(INS)—A three-year search ended today when the skeleton of a hunter, who had been missing since Oct. 30, 1943, was found near his farm home at Mass. County, Bedford county.

The victim, Henry Kerr Bowser, 55, was identified by his son, police reported.

The son said his father left home to hunt small game and never returned. An extensive search by police and neighbors failed to uncover the body.

Yesterday, hunters tramping along a fence within 700 feet of the Bowser farm came upon the skeleton. Police said a rusty shotgun was found beside the remains.

Coroner Vernon Geisel reported the hunter died either from a heart attack or exposure.

Soft Coal Wage Dispute Moves Toward Crisis

Impending Major Developments Reflected In Lewis' Call For Conference

U. S. LEWIS PARLEY RECESS TO MONDAY (BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Interior Secretary J. A. Krug turned to Washington today and notified John L. Lewis that he would attend next Monday's resumption of coal wage talks between the government and the United Mine Workers Union.

The Interior Department announced Krug's return from a Western inspection tour and said that the secretary attended this morning's cabinet meeting at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.

The soft coal wage dispute moved rapidly toward a climax today with only a week remaining before John L. Lewis can serve notice of termination of the existing contract between the government and his United Mine Workers.

Impending major developments were reflected in Lewis' action in summoning the 30 odd district presidents of the union to Washington. The UMW chief intends to consult them on his next move in the campaign for a wage boost for 400,000 miners.

Little Progress

Although wage talks between the government and the union opened Nov. 1, it was reported that they have made slight progress because of the absence from the bargaining table of the two key figures—Lewis and Interior Secretary J. A. Krug.

Lewis is operating on a schedule which will enable him to notify the government Nov. 15—fifteen days after the wage talks started—that the current mine contract will be terminated.

PROCEEDS TO BE USED IN WELFARE

Tomorrow will be Poppy Day in New Castle, as well as in many other communities throughout the state and nation when the public will be asked by the American Legion Auxiliary to wear one of these emblems of sacrifice as a tribute to the memory of the men who lost their lives in the service of their country in World Wars One and Two.

The event always takes place on the Saturday nearest Armistice Day, and has become a revered institution with the public as well as with the veterans.

Purchases of the poppies by the public not only helps the Auxiliary's welfare program locally, but it also contributes to the support of veterans in hospitals, who are without compensation.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller is general chairman of this year's sale, and the ladies of the Auxiliary will be assisted by girls from the two junior high schools in the distribution.

Aiding Mrs. Miller with the arrangements are: Mrs. Ruth Conner, Mrs. Dorothy Boyle, Mrs. Clara Speed, Mrs. Zella Daugherty, and Mrs. Gertrude Speed.

BARKLEY MAY TAKE MINORITY LEADER POST

investigated Pearl Harbor in the 79th Congress. Brewster served on the committee.

As minority leader, Barkley would be certain to oppose another exhaustive inquiry into the disaster which took America into World War II.

Report Monday

Brewster said the war investigating committee now headed by Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.), probably would meet Monday to receive a report from George Meader, its counsel, on a preliminary investigation of conditions in American-occupied territory in Germany and Austria.

Meader returned from Germany this week. His report is expected to result in an on-the-spot investigation by a subcommittee. There were indications he had found plenty to justify a formal inquiry, with particular emphasis on value received for the millions of dollars spent in carrying out the military occupation overseas.

The war investigating committee discussed on January 31. Republicans are expected to continue it but Brewster said there was a "distinct possibility" that its function could be fulfilled by the committee on expenditures in executive departments under the reorganization plan approved last summer.

He told a news conference: "About 100 million dollars was involved in the May-Garrison affair. The war cost 300 billion dollars. We want to know how the entire 300 billion dollars were spent. We want to have a view of war spending free from partisan restrictions."

FOREIGN MINISTERS COUNCIL TO TACKLE TREATIES FOR ITALY

afternoon, three thorny problems on the agenda wait to test the mettle of the Big Four.

These include, in the order of their listing, first the question of incorporating in the Italian treaty an Austro-Italian pact concerning civil and other rights of German-speaking minorities in south Tyrol. The Austrian foreign minister, Dr. Karl Gruber, will return to New York from the west on Monday to be on hand if the council should summon him for a hearing.

Soviet Opposition

The Soviet Union has consistently objected strongly to the inclusion of this Austro-Italian deal in the main treaty and few delegates care to predict a change in Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov's attitude.

Second on the agenda stands an American proposal for the guarantee of human rights in ceded territories, also opposed by Russia.

The third and most crucial issue is that of the free territory of Trieste and its statute, bone of contention between the eastern powers and the east-bloc. The Big Four last Monday agreed to "pass over" this discussion until after the Italian and Yugoslavian representatives had been heard. On Wednesday both these delegations stated their case, with the Yugoslavs making minor concessions but unbending on their main points.

Council members have taken note for the afternoon meeting of the "feelings" extended through the Italian Communist leader in Rome, Palmiro Togliatti, who announced after consulting with Tito in Belgrade that the Yugoslavian dictator is willing to swap Trieste for the Italian city of Gorizia.

Official Big Four comment was unavailable on that possibility, but British and American sources recalled that both Berlin and Moscow have consistently opposed the policy of "horse trading" on matters pertaining to human beings and human rights. But the council is ready for the encouragement of any bilateral understanding between the governments of Italy and Yugoslavia.

Announces U. S. Stand

President Truman, from Washington, first announced America's determination to retain the whip-handle in the Pacific.

Then after close consultation, the American delegation put forward what admittedly was a very novel interpretation of the United Nations charter on the subject.

John Foster Dulles, a lawyer of note, was selected to argue the matter before the UN trusteeship committee. It was highly technical and legally involved, but gist of it was that the United States was determined to retain control of these islands including Kwajalein, Saipan, Tinian, Truk, Palau and others regardless.

Primarily, Dulles undertook a new interpretation of the United Nations charter. He held that the occupying country should have sole right to prepare the preliminary trusteeship agreement for submission to the United Nations. He opposed the idea that other nations, professing trust and interest, should have any word in this original stage.

Another Veto Power

If they did, he contended, it would constitute another "veto" power. "What Dulles demanded was a single right of the United States to reach a trusteeship agreement in the Pacific with the various island chiefs, without having Russia or other governments demanding a preliminary veto."

Then the U. S. delegate laid it on the line. The United States won these islands from Japan the hard way. Japan had a League of Nations mandate over them since the conclusion of World War I. Before the 1914-1918 conflict, the islands were controlled by Germany. The Second World War, plus abolition of the League of Nations, eliminated these mandates. The United States intends to hold onto them, and use them as military bases without inspection.

TWO MARINE CAPTIVES
RELEASED IN CHINA

UNRRA which had set out on a "humanitarian expedition north of Tientsin when they were surrounded by the Chinese Communists.

Held Two Captive

The rest of the party was released, but the Communists held the two marines captive.

Fellows and Lane said they were kept constantly moving on small boats and donkey carts, stopping only in small villages each night during their 18 days of captivity. They were told last Saturday that they would finally be released.

Upon release, each marine was given a carton of Chinese cigarettes and 10,000 Chinese dollars.

The Communists offered to give the marines a certificate in exchange for their confiscated gear and weapons, but it was not accepted by the captives. They said an interpreter explained the certificate "would explain their absence and loss of property to their superior officers."

Lane said: "They gave us anything we could ask for in way of food—if we know how to ask for it. At times making them understand proved difficult."

Simultaneously with the disclosure of their release, marine headquarters issued a statement quoting Lane and Fellows as testifying they had in no manner been mistreated.

SOFT COAL WAGE DISPUTE MOVES TOWARD CRISIS

terminated Nov. 20. The miners then would pursue their traditional "no contract, no work" policy.

Krug finished a western inspection tour in Los Angeles Wednesday night but the interior department made no announcement on when he is expected back in Washington.

Conferences between coal mines administrator N. H. Collinson and Lewis' subordinates, recessed until Monday, thereby giving rise to speculation that Lewis and Krug will get together for a showdown at that time.

Krug's Position

Krug has taken the position that the present Krug-Lewis agreement, negotiated last May when the government seized the mines, cannot be reopened for the period of federal reversion of the properties.

Lewis, supported by some other top administration leaders, contends he can reopen the agreement for wage adjustments.

There has been no sign in the four-days of conversations between Collinson and the UMW representative that the two sides have yet come to grips on this issue. Collinson opened the meetings by saying only that he was willing to "listen" to the miners case.

The UMW made no announcement on the convening of the disinterested leaders or the purpose of their presence in Washington. The news of Lewis' action first came from the coal fields areas.

Major Developments Expected

Normally, the mine chief summations his 250-man policy committee when any major developments are expected. However, since the mines are under government control, Lewis may have been reluctant to risk an overt action by such a large body of men that might provoke complications under the Smith-Connally act.

Administration leaders indicated that the coal wage case is a technical matter, and that the government's position is to maintain control.

Lewis, if successful, would set the pattern for labor's second round reconversion wage demands. Some officials have considered freeing coal, steel and other basic items from price control and letting industry and labor battle out the next round of wage disputes without interference by the government.

FOOTBALL CROWD
ADDS TO PROBLEM

hotels than any other big event in recent years, including the World's Fair and the various baseball world series.

It's the worst week-end in the most terrific, maddest week-end in years.

Hotels In Dilemma

"Some hotel reservations for this game actually were made a year ago. Hotel managers are in a dilemma. The fact that New York is jammed with delegates to the United Nations and the Four Powers Conference has complicated the problem. These delegates and other U. N. visitors have taken over more than 2,000 hotel rooms in New York."

Harassed hotel managers are sending guests to suburban hotels and even as far away as Philadelphia. The Waldorf has been sending guests out to Garden City.

Along Broadway today speculators were offered as high as $200 a pair for tickets. But they were no tickets even at this fantastic price.

Betting on the game has hit a new high. Even though the army seems logically to be a slight favorite, Notre Dame money is in evidence on all sides and thousands upon thousands of dollars have been wagered at even money.

Swank night club spots such as the Stock Club, Twenty-One, El Morocco are booked up for Saturday night, a La New Year's eve. It will almost be impossible to get into Toots Shor's restaurant, rendezvous of sports celebrities, after the game. Eating on Saturday night in downtown New York will be a problem.

Cosmopolitan night clubs such as the Diamond Horseshoe, Leon and Eddie's, the Zanzibar and the China Doll are sold out for both Friday and Saturday nights.

It's going to be a great football game for the visiting fans to watch but their week-end is sure to have its ups and downs.

90 years, of 1705 Delaware avenue. Mrs. Curtis resides there with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goddard. She cast her ballot at the polling place of the 10th precinct, Second ward.

Armistice Day will be observed on Monday by some institutions as a holiday. The American Legion observance for the country posts will take place at Ellwood City.

Two New Castle women were driving from Pittsburgh at a late hour of the evening recently and saw a bright white light fall from the sky in the vicinity of Portersville. It seemed to be about three feet in diameter and after a few minutes it burst, they reported.

MOLOTOV MAKES CALL ON PRESIDENT TRUMAN

buffet tables were better patronized than before. Guests fought and struggled for the vodka, bourbon and cocktails and for the cold turkey, rich baked ham, sausage and sausages as bravely as ever.

Though food and drink was plentiful, Molotov was scarce. Only those who came to the receiving line within the first half hour of the party were privileged to shake his hand.

In Receiving Line Briefly

The distinguished guest stood in the receiving line between Soviet Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov and Madame Novikov only as the first guests arrived. The slight, bespectacled diplomat, the enigma of the western world, wore a business suit and appeared to enjoy the proceedings heartily.

But when Joseph E. Davies, one time ambassador to Moscow, author of the sympathetic "Mission to Moscow" arrived, Molotov left the line and chatted through an interpreter for ten minutes with Davies.

When the conversation ended, Molotov moved through the main reception room, pressing his way through the thick crowd. After a few pleasantries he retired to a private room with Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson where fresh toasts were drunk in private.

No Political Import

Best informed political opinion was that Molotov's visit had nothing to do with the recent Republican landslide which some Russian commentators have described as a move to the "right". His visits earlier in the day with President Truman at the White House and Acheson at the State department were believed too brief for any thorough going analysis of the situation.

In fact, it was said by responsible diplomats that Molotov's visit had been planned well in advance of the elections. The trip, it was said, gave him an opportunity to pay his respects to the President, something that international good manners call for when visiting a foreign state.

Molotov's visit was the first since he passed through Washington on his way to the United Nations conference in the spring of 1944. He also paid a wartime visit in 1943.

Rev. Oliver W. Hurst officiated at the single ring ceremony before the altar banked with palms and ferns.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with fitted bodice, long sleeves, and a full net overskirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a beaded crown and she carried an arm bouquet of white mums. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

Miss Helen Hazen, maid of honor, wore a pastel blue net gown with three-quarter length sleeves. Miss Eleanor Warnock, bridesmaid, wore a gown of pastel pink net with three-quarter sleeves. Both wore headresses of yellow baby mums and carried arm bouquets of the same flowers.

Fred Jones was best man for his nephew and ushers were Wayne McEwen, Walter Peterson, and Harry Scott.

Organ music was played by Mrs. W. H. Lukart and soloist Mrs. LeRoy Book sang Because I Love You Truly, and The Lord's Prayer.

Following the ceremony and congratulatory period at the church, there was a reception for 30 guests, the bride party and immediate families at the home of the bride's parents.

WASHINGTON CALLING

Sees Lesson For Labor In Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—For the Democratic party and for the labor movement in America the meaning of Tuesday's elections should be abundantly clear. A head-in-the-sand attitude is no longer possible except for those who choose deliberately to ignore the facts.

The first and most obvious fact is that the Democratic party had grown old and tired in office. Little or nothing was done to encourage new and younger men to take responsibility and power. Aging sages jealously guarded their rights and privileges.

To many old men had forgotten the past. Massachusetts is a good example. Senator David I. Walsh had long ceased to stand for anything. He was a grumpy Republican living on the tired eloquence of another day. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., a young man, a new face. Small wonder that the voters rejected Walsh.

This was almost the entire appeal of the Republican campaign throughout the country. The slogan, "Had enough?" originated in Massachusetts. The Republican managers shrewdly calculated on the weariness and satiety of the average voter. Even if they had had anything positive to offer, they knew it was not necessary.

Dems Erred Backing May

At times it has seemed that the Democrats went out of their way to embrace their mistakes. The endorsement of Representative Angus Thayer to Democratic campaign managers was a deliberate insult to the voters. Quite apart from the Garçon munitions scandal which was given much more prominence than it deserved, May had repeatedly proved his incompetence. His defeat is a net gain regardless of the qualifications of his opponent.

The blame for all this does not fall primarily, it seems to me, on Democratic Chairman Robert Hannegan. In many instances, Hannegan wanted to apply party discipline to unload incompetents and aging candidates, obviously unfit either for a campaign or for active public office.

But since there is no such thing as party discipline within the Democratic party he was powerless. That he will resign shortly seems at this point a certainty. He has been given a week that he was fighting a losing battle.

The lesson for the labor movement, and above all for the men who lead it, is even more pointed. The rank-and-file labor vote that the Democratic party counted on in the Roosevelt era simply was not there. Either they did not vote or in large numbers they voted against the Democratic ticket.

This means indifference and downright disaffection. Those who have been saying that the rank and file was off the reservation now have something tangible to offer in evidence.

The top men of labor will camouflage this fact at their own risk and at the risk of the gains labor has made in the past 14 years. Any suggestion that the average American—including the rank and file of the unions—was fed up with the excesses and abuses of the union bosses has hitherto been met with scorn. The proof, as seen in the outcome of Tuesday's elections, cannot be laughed away.

How far restrictive labor legislation will go no one can say at this time. It cannot be stopped in the House at any rate, by a presidential veto. The bloc of Democrats who have voted consistently with the Republicans in recent years will continue to vote with them. In that bloc are at least 60 votes.

Sees End of All Controls

Added to the new Republican majority, the total will be more than enough to beat down Mr. Truman. There is some likelihood that the Senate where reactionary Democrats have set the pace for the Republicans. Those southern Democratic votes will add up with Republican votes for wiping out all government controls and for clamping down on labor.

It is probably too late for organized labor to take the kind of moderate stand, making certain minimum concessions, that might have prevented the punishment that is now almost certain to be inflicted. Perhaps such a stand never was possible, since the union bosses are (Continued on Page Nineteen)

Trains from Maine are packed with returning Republicans... Thin, gaunt but the light of hope in their eyes.

Mr. Truman promises a statement on the election after a reasonable search for something to say.

Several conferences have been held but there is no decision yet on whether to stick to the old reason... "Blame It On Hoover"... or find a new one.

One thing the results seem to have proved is that an election cannot be won by transcription.

Henry Wallace says the Democratic party either must become more progressive or die... Several Democrats seem to feel that a major operation such as removing a lung or two might help.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Wherever you go nowadays you see posters and billboards admonishing you to go slowly.

"Death is just around the corner," read one of them I passed yesterday. "Go slow and live," said another one.

The Archbishop of Canterbury recently returned to England from a trip to the United States. "What impressed you most?" he was asked.

"American cops," was his reply. "In one great city," he told reporters, "the police, having heard that last year the Archbishop of York traveled through a neighboring city at sixty miles an hour, decided that neither the Archbishop of Canterbury nor their city should be outdone."

The result was that we traveled through the streets at eighty miles an hour with motorcycle escort and sirens shrieking, and so excited were the police that they presented me with a written statement on official paper, recording that speed."

The Archbishop declined to name the city.

If anybody but a high clergyman had told this story you would rightly have considered it gross exaggeration.

But certainly, an Archbishop would not exaggerate—and there is that official paper.

Furthermore, I have seen it with my own eyes.

Governors and senators, mayors and wardhealers, rushing to baseball games and meetings, to luncheons and banquets at top speed, headed by motorcops, dis-

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

HELP FOR THE POOR SPELLER

The child who has not learned to spell pretty well by the time he reaches the fifth grade is pretty sure to meet with many discouragements in all his written work the remainder of his school life, unless he makes up his arrears in spelling.

When his written work is returned with many words marked in color because they are misspelled, he feels ashamed of the way it looks. Also, his teacher has been annoyed. No matter how good the content or the quality of expression of his written work his grade for this work may not be very high. Besides, he may be faced with considerable ridicule because of his bad spelling. Indeed, it may become a serious personality problem with him. And the better his success in other school subjects the more his spelling lag may plague him.

He may suppose he can never become a good speller. An unwise parent or teacher may have told him he was born a poor speller. There's no scientific evidence to prove clearly that any child who can do well at reading or arithmetic can't learn also to spell well, unless he has hearing dullness.

Some Children May Lag

Of course, some children because of generally low ability at book-learning or for other reasons, may lag in every school subject. Nevertheless, a child who is slow at reasoning may, with sufficient application of good study methods, do even better in spelling than in reading or arithmetic, since learning to spell is a pretty mechanical process.

Good spelling consists chiefly in memorizing by rote a word in connection with the sight, sound and meaning of this word. It is best acquired by correct, frequent repetition of these associations. The main problem is to help the child avoid any wrong associations and to make the right ones always and often enough to fix them permanently.

A good speller spells without thinking as a rule. The word just spells itself. He does not have to be on guard. If there is an error almost surely there has been an error or many errors before.

Calm And Unhurried

To these ends, it is very important for the child as he studies his spelling words, to feel very calm and unhurried, and have no urge to try himself out on a word before he has really learned to spell it correctly.

If the child is hurried and always in a hurry to test himself or be tested on a word or group of words—and most poor spellers are—he won't make much progress.

Preval on him to look very carefully at the word, pronounce it, and then name the letters of this word in correct order, so that this process over and over before looking away from the word and trying to spell it from memory.

Also, assist him to break up the larger words into syllables. It should help him to write the word slowly while looking at it carefully. Always it is hazardous for him to spell the word incorrectly aloud or in writing. I have a bulletin board has helped many a poor speller. Heme Help for Poor Spellers to be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

What is the hurry? What is the visitor's special importance? The Archbishop of Canterbury did not commit himself. But I suspect that he gave the interview with tongue in cheek.

I suspect that he was amused by our childishness and our innate anxiety to show off.

We like to show 'em that we are bigger and faster and louder than anyone else. We like to scare the daylight out of 'em. Maybe it's because we haven't many real cowboys any more, but the cowboy spirit is still in us.

Wouldn't the Archbishops—both of them—have seen more of our country and of its people if they had been permitted to go a little more slowly?

Why give a native a ticket for going forty miles and hour and rush a visitor through America at eighty?

I like that sign I have seen in several places.

Go slow and see our scenery. Go fast and see our jail.

Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Just what sort of bureaucratic quirk could prompt such a suggestion, it is hard to understand. The operators have no mimes. The operators cannot operate the government by doing the operating. The operators tried to negotiate but the government kicked them out of the negotiations and made its own contract. The only condition on which they can get their mines back is by acceptance of the contract arbitrarily made by the government.

Now, having bumped up against the powerful and clever Mr. Lewis again, the administration would like to get out from under and pass the buck back to the operators whom it dispossessed. If this doesn't "take the rag off the bush" for governmental assimilation we give up.

Words Of Wisdom

The real democratic American idea is, not that every man shall be on a level with every other, but that everyone shall have liberty, without hindrance, to be what God made him.—H. W. Beecher.

No One Need Starve Now! Army Sergeant Prove It
Prejudice Causes World To Ignore Strange Foods
Coconut Milk And Cactus For Desert

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—If a girl had to be marooned on a desert island with some fellow, the practical miss would select Sgt. Robert Weaver of Richmond, Ind.

While the 28-year-old sergeant is reasonably attractive, his strongest point as a potential partner on a Robinson Crusoe adventure is his expert knowledge of jungle foods and how to serve them up in style.

Sergeant Weaver makes this claim: If dropped by chute out of a plane in the tropics he could procure sufficient wild foodstuff, within the range of a half-mile, to prepare a 13-course dinner. And that dinner could compete with the best of those offered by America's most fashionable hotels.

A group of Washington reporters could attest to that, following a luncheon Sergeant Weaver prepared on a little gas burner at the War department. He used strange and little known foods flown in from the jungles of Florida.

Sergeant Weaver staged this party to demonstrate how plane crews forced down in the tropics can subsist on wild plant and animal life indefinitely.

Sergeant Weaver's expert knowledge already has been put to good advantage in the Air Transport Command. Crews flying the southern routes over the jungles have been given courses of training prepared by the sergeant. Recently, he did research on available foodstuffs in the Arctic areas.

This idea of utilizing little known foodstuffs also can be applied in famine countries, according to Sergeant Weaver. "People are starving to death, while good food goes to waste all around them," he points out.

Partially, it is a matter of overcoming local prejudice against certain wholesome foods. Also, people must be taught how to prepare the strange foods not generally accepted, and to select those which are good.

"The French refused to eat canned sweet potatoes that were sent to them during the war," he explained. "The English turned down tons of energy-giving peanut butter. In this country, tomatoes and avocados have been accepted only in the last century. Until 500 years ago, people ate the flower of the banana tree and threw away the fruit."

Both armadillo and "sand sharks" were on the menu which Sergeant Weaver selected for his demonstration meal. Thousands of pounds of these animals are thrown away every year, instead of being fed to the starving, according to the sergeant.

The Washington luncheon opened with raw salt-water snail meat as appetizer. Tasted like clams only better. The squid soup was like any fish chowder, even if squids look like little octopuses.

The alligator steak proved superior to pork chops. Sand shark resembles any other fish, but a little bit tough. On foot, the armadillo (Continued on Page Nineteen) to boost prices, cause scarcities in a land of plenty and make living harder for all.

Fatter pay envelopes of dollars diminishing in value every day proved a mockery to labor. The real wages it sought to keep pace with soaring costs of living gave a fresh whiff to the vicious spiral of inflation. Lack of a firm, consistent labor-wage-price policy brought hardship to all.

At the same time inflation received steady stimulus from the Administration's bungling. Husband-and-wife policies inherited from the New Deal, summed up in "tax, borrow and spend with the sky the limit."

The "off again, on again" guessing about a balanced budget, with no real effort to achieve it by thoroughgoing economies, has kept business, industry and taxpayers in constant suspense, unable to chart their future course.

Disabled Vet Re-Enters U. S. Army Service

By FRANCES MUSIC
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The War department announced today that plans for a one-armed former sergeant to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for permission to resume his Army service prompted the chief of staff to welcome back thousands of disabled combat veterans.

The ex-soldier, M-Sgt. Richard Montgomery, led back into the Army today an initial 5,000 men who were physically handicapped in battle during World War II. Montgomery lives at 2421 Perryville avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ceremonies Occur
Montgomery was sworn into the Army as the first disabled combat veteran to re-enter the service during the ceremonies to be held in the office of Maj. Gen. W. S. Paul, War department personnel chief.

The veteran explained to Eisenhower that he lost his left hand when anti-aircraft shell fragments knocked down a B-29 in which he was radio operator. Immediately afterward he was captured by the Japanese and held in a Rangoon prison camp.

Montgomery said that the Japanese permitted a British medical officer, also a captive, to save his life by amputating his gangrenous left forearm. A sedative was withheld, however.

Liberated in May, 1945, Montgomery was fitted with an artificial arm and discharged from a general hospital, Richmond, Va., in January, 1945.

Appeal To Gen. Eisenhower
His appeal to Eisenhower said in part: "I did everything in my power to persuade the hospital authorities to retain me in the service, but was informed that because my left arm was amputated that was impossible."

"So I literally was forced out of the organization which I had so faithfully served for six years, for which I was willing to lay down my life and for which I left an arm overseas. I am perfectly capable of handling any number of jobs in the Army either in peace or war."

Montgomery's plea rang the bell. The War department directed that an initial 5,000 partially disabled veterans be accepted for service.

The department said that this action comes as official recognition of "the fine character and strength exhibited by the majority of our disabled men" and helps the Army preserve its fighting strength by utilizing abilities of this skilled personnel.

Busy Painting
Air Markers On Many Buildings

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Eight crews of painters were at work today placing air markers on the roofs of buildings adjacent to the state's most popular cities in line with the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission's program for the safety of private flyers.

Commission Director William L. Anderson said 11 markers have been painted during the past 10 days by workmen employed by H. K. Rhodes of Roaring Spring.

Rhodes was awarded a contract by the commission to paint 200 markers at $87.50 each.

Anderson said the crews would concentrate on marking airports adjacent to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Erie, Easton, Allentown, Reading, Bethlehem, Lancaster, Harrisburg, Williamsport and Lock Haven.

Markers have been painted at Ashville, Barnesboro, Cresson and Portage in Cambria county, Holderness, Martinsburg, Roaring Spring and Williamsburg in Blair county. Coalport in Clearfield county, Everett and Saxton, Bedford county.

Free education in Australia is provided in state primary, secondary and technical schools.

Governor Martin Tells Republicans Of Tasks Ahead

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Republicans were warned today by Gov. Edward Martin that a lot of hard work would be required to elect a GOP president in 1948.

"If the Republicans use good common sense and get together on sound government proposals, we'll win in 1948," he asserted. "We can't win by simply drifting along, expecting the Democrats to make mistakes."

The chief executive was pleased with the general election which brought out a "good vote," better than 65 per cent, of Pennsylvania's four million electors. He held a 600,000 majority over his opponent, incumbent U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Gurney, and his running mates similarly high leads.

Biggest Percentage Vote
In addition to gaining the wide margin, the governor said, "It looks as if we have the biggest percentage vote in the nation."

Governor Martin had predicted he would win by a majority of only 200,000 votes. He explained he had underestimated the marginal strength received from some strategic districts.

Allegheny county gave him a 54,000 lead, about 70,000 more than he had expected, he said, while Philadelphia almost trebled his estimate of a 40,000 margin. His figures were low also for Luzerne, Lackawanna, Delaware and Montgomery counties, he added.

Governor Martin praised county organizations and women's groups for their work in the campaign.

"Both men and women knew they had a hard job and they started out with the objective of getting everybody in accord with our type of government," he said.

POLITICAL NOTES
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(INS)—Attendance was so low at Indiana oratorical campaign rallies that the state committee employed a well-known radio pianist, to lure the voters to the meetings. The musician plays for a short time and then the orators go into action.

Propose Committee Decide Location Of U. N. Headquarters

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 8.—(INS)—The United States proposed Thursday that a 16-nation special sub-committee be created to decide whether the United Nations will make its permanent home in Westchester county, N. Y., San Francisco Bay area or the New York City area.

Former Senator Warren R. Austin made the proposal to the UN's 51-member headquarters site committee after Sir Angus Fletcher, chairman of a committee of experts, had made an exhaustive report on five possible sites in Westchester county.

The General Assembly at its London meeting last February directed that the permanent home be either there or in adjoining Fairfield county, Conn.

Eduardo Zuleta-Angel of Columbia, chairman of the headquarters committee, pointed out that tomorrow's plenary session of the General Assembly would have to deal with Austin's earlier proposal to widen the scope of the home site hunt to include the San Francisco area and New York City. Zuleta consequently deferred action on the sub-committee idea until Saturday.

Churchill Says U. S. And Britain Stand Together

LONDON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Winston Churchill said that the United States and Britain always will stand together, no matter which political party is in power in either country.

The former prime minister, who had staunchly refused all comment on the Republican landslide in the United States, made the statement at his London home as he received the freedom of the Borough of Stamford.

He declared: "I will only say that it doesn't matter what government or party comes into power in the United States and Britain.

"There will always be enduring friendship and brotherhood between the leading elements of the English-speaking world, who will stand together as an unbreakable bulwark against all that might menace freedom or close the path of progress to mankind."

French Views On Election Result In United States

PARIS, Nov. 8.—(INS)—French morning newspapers expressed general belief today that the Republican victory in Tuesday's American elections will result in stronger opposition of the United States to Soviet Russia.

The Conservative paper "Figaro", however, remarked editorially:

"If the Republicans vigorously resist Communist tendencies inside the U. S., this does not necessarily mean a stiffening attitude against Moscow.

"Events will shape the action of the Republican congress."

L'Humanite viewed the election results as "a victory for trusts," while France Tireur declared:

"The triumph of dollar democracy and atomic diplomacy forbids inflation and an open fight on Socialism abroad."

OUTLOOK BETTER FOR CHEWING GUM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Although the day when millions of chewing gums can get the desired quantity of gum is not at hand, and may not be for some months, the outlook is better.

War-time per capita consumption by military personnel has been calculated at the rate of 630 sticks of chewing gum per year, compared with 77 sticks available to civilians.

Until the sugar situation improves the chewing gum industry faces continued restriction of output. About 3,933,000 pounds of chiclet and 2,154,000 pounds of leche caspi were received in the United States in the first four months of 1946.

Bricks Thrown Through Four Saloon Windows

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Pittsburgh's long-smouldering jurisdictional feud between the AFL teamsters and the CIO united brewery workers today appeared ready to break into open warfare as police reported new acts of violence.

Police said six bricks were thrown through four large windows of a saloon owned by Charles Batz, 31-year-old navy veteran, Batz, who had a window smashed two weeks ago, had been maintaining a nightly watch with a 16-gauge shotgun across his lap.

The saloon owner missed the vandals when he left his post for a few minutes, according to police.

Anthony Latini, a truck driver for a Kittingham beer distributor, reported that a can of gasoline and a lighted match were thrown into the cab of his truck yesterday at the Duquesne Brewing company. Police estimated the fire caused $200 damage.

Meanwhile, teamsters spurred their efforts to prevent the sale of Pittsburgh beer in local taverns. Pickers were placed at 60 taverns in the heart of CIO-controlled districts.

Although AFL bartenders walked out in support of the teamsters, many saloons continued to operate.

CIO officials, supporting the brewers' workers, threatened swift reprisals on AFL members "invading" CIO districts.

DEWEY PROMISES COMMUNISM PURGE IN NEW YORK STATE

ALBANY, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Governor Dewey, re-elected by a majority of more than 680,000, returned to Albany Thursday determined to utilize the full power of his office to stamp out Communist-inspired terrorism in New York City or elsewhere in the state.

The governor, whose landslide victory enhanced his chances for a second Presidential nomination in 1948, was less concerned about his own future than he was about the condition of Joseph Scott, 38-year-old Republican election captain in the 18th congressional district, who was struck down by thugs as he walked to the polls election day.

Polish National Art Treasures Now Located

Report Treasures Valued At $10,000,000 Stored In Canada Had Disappeared

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Dr. Alfred Fiderkiewicz, Polish minister to Canada, revealed today that Polish national art treasures—valued at $10,000,000—had disappeared.

The Polish diplomat said the valuable art collection was sent to Canada during the war for safekeeping. He said they included priceless paintings, original manuscripts by Chopin and historical treasures including the 13th Century coronation sword of the kings of Poland.

Dr. Fiderkiewicz said the treasures were placed originally in a special vault at Ottawa's experimental farm. He said the collection had been removed from the farm and placed in the Bank of Montreal in Ottawa and at various convents and Catholic churches in Quebec.

Dr. Fiderkiewicz said that when he was commissioned by the Polish government to represent that country in Canada he was charged with determining what had happened to the treasures stored in Canada.

He said that three trunks filled with precious 14th Century ornaments, Gutenberg Bibles and gold and silver-woven tapestries were found in the Bank of Montreal in Ottawa and at various convents and Catholic churches in Quebec.

To Resume Talks In Hotel Strike

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Negotiations were expected to resume today in Pittsburgh's 39-day-old hotel strike following a request by leaders of the AFL Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance for a renewal of contract discussions.

E. H. Gallup Jr., executive secretary of the Pittsburgh Hotels Association, declared that the hotels were willing to meet at any time.

The union's request was its first move since Monday when the hotels issued an ultimatum to employees to return to work within a week or have management's settlement offer cut 25 per cent.

The hotels offered an eight-cent raise to non-tip employees and four cents to tip-receiving workers, plus an insurance plan and increased vacations.

Eight major hotels have been closed to transient guests since the walkout of 1800 employees began October 1.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Cecil B. De Mille and his fabulous bathubs are taking a royal screen kidding on the great man's home lot, Paramount.

It's for a scene in "Variety Girl", a story about Hollywood. Frank Ferguson playing Paramount's presi- dent, is visiting a supposed De Mille set with Olga San Juan, a blonde turned brunette, and Charles Victor, a "yes man".

On the set there's a bath almost as big as a swimming pool and Olga pushes Ferguson into it.

Ferguson is furious that he's been soaked in a DeMille bath and rushes into the gymnasium dressing room, where John Lund, who's playing himself, is getting a rub down.

He tells Lund his predicament.

Lund says: "But, you can't possibly fire De Mille."

"No, we can't fire De Mille," Ferguson agrees.

And "yes man" Victor chimes in: "You're right you can't fire Mr. De Mille."

De Mille probably will laugh the loudest of anyone when it gets to the screen.

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM IRISH BRIDE

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Army veteran Roy E. Wheat, 27, of Chi- cago, was seeking his freedom to- day from an Irish bride because he claims she won't leave Ireland to be with him.

Wheat said he married Mrs. Mary Naughton Wheat, 25, in Cambridge, England, July 24, 1945. He said she complained she would always be homesick for Ireland if she fol- lowed him to the United States.

Wheat filed a petition for divorce in circuit court, charging desertion.

Popular Indiana Senator Will Be One Of Youngest

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—(INS)—William E. Jenner, 38-year-old World War II veteran, elected to the U. S. Senate by a plurality approaching 175,000 votes, will be one of the youngest members of the upper house although he already has some 60 days experience in the Senate.

Chosen by Indiana voters who joined in a nationwide Republican landslide to succeed 71-year-old Raymond E. Willis, Jenner was elected in 1945 to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Frederick Van Nuys, who died in office. In his short term as a member of the Senate, Jenner served on committees on education, labor, Indian affairs and expenditures. His position on the committee for the District of Columbia made him "part time mayor" of the nation's capital.

Jenner has a maximum of political experience for a young man. Regarded as an old hand and a master showman in Hoosier politics, he has served as both majority and minority leader of the Indiana Senate. Party workers describe him as "quick, nervous and, to a degree, sensitive about personal criticism". His ability as an orator was recognized by the GOP when they selected him to make the keynote speech for the North Dakota Republican State Convention this year. An avowed opponent of the P. A.

C. he damns the labor group for "Communist-controlled leadership". However, he is no enemy of organized labor, for he was supported by war veterans members of both AFL and CIO unions in many parts of the state.

Develop Process To Package Corn In Water-Proof Wrap

AKRON, O., Nov. 8.—(INS)—Corn on the cob is headed for a new era of consumer appeal. Food packing experts in the laboratories of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company in Akron, O., have reported that they have developed a process whereby corn can be wrapped in ploffilm, a transparent, moisture-water-vapor proof material.

Mrs. M. D. Coulter and P. J. Vaughan of Goodyear's food research staff says that tests made in Akron and at the agricultural experimental station of the University of Florida showed ploffilm-wrapped corn kept in excellent condition at 37 degrees over a 14-day period with a weight loss of only 72 percent.

the research experts said, could still be marketed at the end of 23 days when the weight loss was only 144 percent. This in contrast to unhusked corn at 37 degrees, which was marketable in seven days with a weight loss of 841 percent. Goodyear's ploffilm specialists foresee distinct advantages in this method of handling this delicacy. High speed wrapping machines are now being developed which can be moved right to the fields where husks can be removed, the corn pre-cooled, and sealed within its new transparent wrapper almost immediately. The method also will make possible the long-distance shipping of corn, opening up northern markets during the southern corn season, and vice versa. Another advantage claimed for the new process is that corn may be dropped into boiling water and the entire cooking operation performed without breaking the sealed ploffilm wrapper.

The Mississippi river was in flood when it was first seen by its discoverer, Hernando de Soto, in 1541.

Elections Of Two Senators Is Challenged

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Republicans are attempting today to increase their six-vote margin in the next Senate by challenging the apparent election of Democratic senators in Maryland and West Virginia. Republicans have won 51 of the 96 seats.

In Maryland, Republican David John Markey is awaiting the official tabulation before demanding a recount in the reported victory of Democrat Herbert R. O'Connor. O'Connor had a lead of about 1,500 in a total of 472,000 votes cast. Markey's supporters say that a recount of heavily Democratic districts in Baltimore will reveal enough errors to give the Republican the election by from 500 to 1,000 votes.

In West Virginia Democratic Senator Harley M. Kilgore was the reported winner by about 3,000 votes in a total of 540,000 votes cast. His Republican opponent, Thomas Sweeney, is also awaiting results of the official canvass before demanding a recount in Democratic precincts. The Republicans now have a majority of 57 votes in the next House. Present lineup is: 246 Republicans, 187 Democrats, one Independent and one contest unsettled. They have won 56 new seats while losing two, for a net gain of 54 seats.

It may require an official recount to determine the winner in the first Utah congressional race. With a few ballot boxes uncounted, Republican David J. Wilson led Democratic Rep. Walter K. Granger by 6 votes, 44,728 to 44,722. The state canvass will be staged Monday.

Black Dragon Society Hold On Japanese Shown

TOKYO, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The throttling exercised by the dread Black Dragon society on Japanese wartime leaders was forcibly illustrated by the prosecution today in evidence presented to the International War Crimes Tribunal.

The prosecution read excerpts from the diary of Koichi Kido, confidential adviser to Emperor Hirohito, and one of the 27 defendants on trial for waging wars of aggression.

In his diary, Kido said he had been informed by Premier Prince Koyama that Mitsuru Fuyama, founder of the Black Dragon society, was given the job of negotiating peace between Chiang Kai-Shek and Japan in June 1941.

The prosecution also read affidavits from former Secretary of War Stimson and Ambassador Grew as well as testimony from former Secretary of State Cordell Hull before the U. S. Senate, outlining Japan's long treaty-breaking history.

SEEK TO BREAK STALEMATE IN JAP REPARATIONS ISSUE

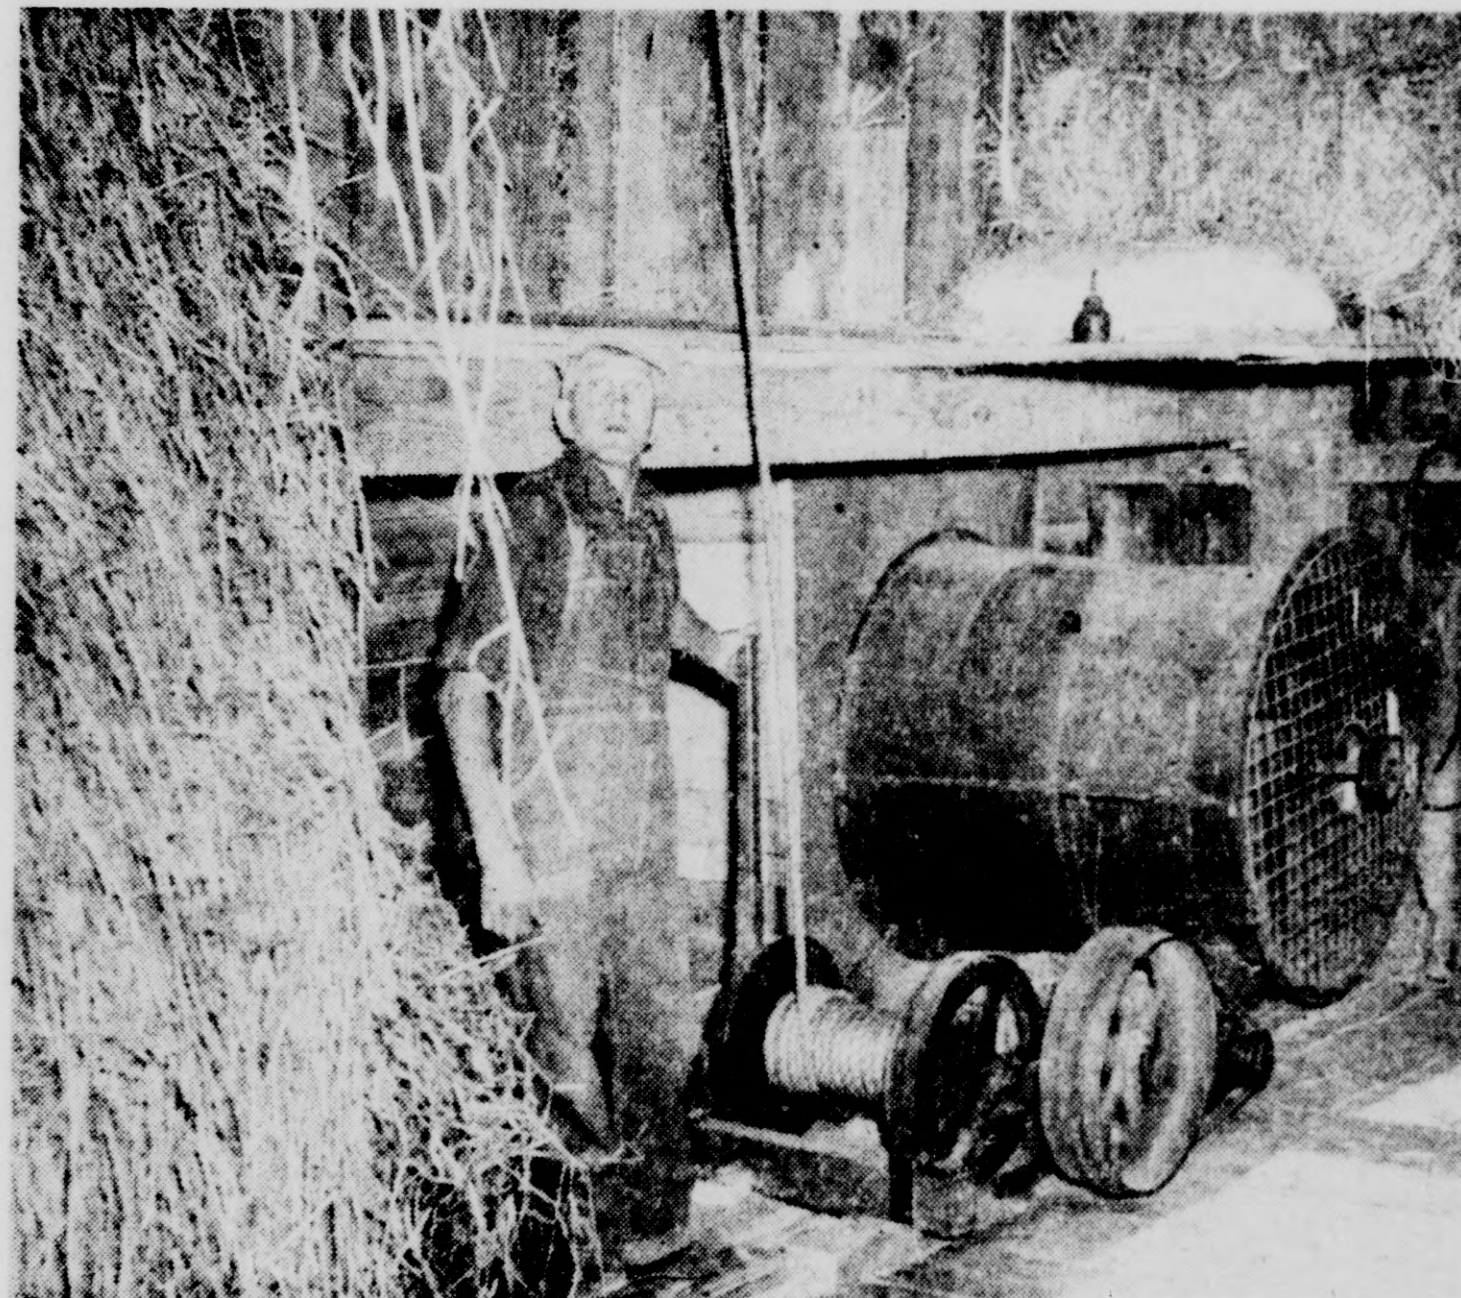

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Responsible sources revealed today that the United States is seeking to break the stalemate surrounding the Japanese reparations question by directly circularizing the 10 other interested powers.

State department officials declined publicly to confirm the report saying only that no decision has yet been made on a settlement. At the same time, it was learned that contrary to popularly accepted reports, the United States will make claim to a substantial proportion of any Japanese assets involved in reparations.

Electricity Big Aid In District Farm Work

Old saying that "every day, in every way, the world is becoming better and better" may be changed now to "Every day in every way farm work is becoming easier and easier" because of electricity, at least The News photographer believes so.

Here is the inside of the hay, straw and feed barn of Floyd Byers, Petersburg, R. D. 2. Much work is needed because there are 70 head of cattle on this farm. Herein pictured is Robert Byers, operating an elevator which, by use of electricity, conveys from the floor to the place desired, a bale of straw for bedding. The elevator was built by another son, Raymond, a student at Mt. Jackson high school. Mr. Byers also uses electricity to dry hay, operate feed mixers, shell corn and keep his dairy cold storage room at proper temperature.

Stowaway Fails To Buy Passage

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Nov. 8.—Kingsley Foster, Minneapolis attorney who successfully stowed away on the Queen Elizabeth to visit his British wife and their eight-month-old baby, failed in an effort to buy a return ticket on the same ship.

Foster was stopped at the dock here yesterday, in spite of the fact that Charles Guttman, 56-year-old whisky importer, offered to pay for the passage of the attorney and his family.

Guttman, who made the New York-Southampton crossing with Foster, relieved him of stowaway charges by paying his fare for the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster returned to her home at Marden last night. They hope to make the crossing soon with money provided by Guttman.

War Veterans Wins Elections

Fifty-Five Veterans Of World War II Are Victors In Congress Battles

By RAYMOND WILCOVE (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—A survey disclosed today that 55 veterans of World War II have won election to the 80th Congress, 51 in the House and four in the Senate.

Many more fell by the wayside, however. A total of 107 World War II veterans lost in campaigns for a seat in Congress.

Both the House and Senate will witness a substantial increase in veterans of World War II when the new Congress convenes January 3.

Only 11 veterans of the Second World War alone sit in the present Congress, 10 in the House and one in the Senate.

Total Of 240 Veterans

The 80th Congress will include among its 531 members a total of 240 veterans of the Spanish-American War and the First and Second World wars. Thus, 45 per cent of the new Congress will be made up of veterans, a much larger percentage than at present.

Most of the veterans of the recent war in the new Congress will be Republicans. Of the 51 elected to the House, 31 are Republicans and 20 Democrats. The new Senate will contain four Republicans and no Democratic members who are veterans of World War II.

In addition to veterans of World War II alone, the new Congress will have 17 veterans of both World wars. They will include 14 in the House (11 Republicans, 3 Democrats) and three in the Senate (all Republicans).

The new Senate will contain 24 veterans of the Spanish-American War and the first and second World wars, including 20 holdovers whose seats were not at stake in Tuesday's election. Twenty-five per cent of its 96 members will be veterans, compared to 46 per cent in the new House.

Of the 435 members of the new House, 199 will be veterans of all wars, compared to 138 veterans in the present House.

The Democrats had 199 veterans of all wars in the race for Congress, compared to 196 Republicans. Among the Democrats, 99 were veterans of World War II, and 20 of these were elected. The Republicans had 67 veterans of World War II in the race for Congress and 31 were successful.

Four World War Two veterans were elected to the Senate. They are William F. Knowland, Calif., who was re-elected; Henry Cabot Lodge, Mass., who left the Senate to serve in the Army; Harry P. Cain, Wash.; and Joseph R. McCarthy, Wis. Still another World War II senatorial candidate, Thomas Sweeney, Republican of West Virginia, is contesting the re-election of Sen. Harley Kilgore, Democrat.

Chicago 'Squatters' Face Legal Action

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Chicago housing authority planned legal action as quickly as possible today against 50 to 60 war veterans who have moved their families without authority into the airport veterans' housing project.

Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the CHA, charged yesterday that the "squatters" were "attempting to jump to the head of a list of 25,000 certified applicants for temporary housing."

SOVIETS DISCUSS AMERICAN ELECTION

MOSCOW, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Pravda said today in the first Russian comment on the United States elections that the Democrats were defeated because their program comprised "miserable scraps of declarations" borrowed from the Republicans.

Pravda said the losers failed to come out with "even a comparatively progressive political program."

The Communist party organ added: "The characteristic feature of the Democrats' program was their lack of independence. The further they departed from Roosevelt the closer they came to the platform of the Republicans."

Recount May Be Asked In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 8.—(INS)—Final unofficial figures today gave Gov. Herbert O'Connor, Democrat, a majority of 1,943 votes over D. John Markey of Frederick in the Maryland race for United States senator.

The unofficial total, with all of the state's 1330 precincts accounted for, was:

O'Connor 237,389, Markey 235,455.

Election supervisors said the complete official count probably would not be known until Monday.

It was indicated that at least a partial recount may be demanded by Markey.

Markey headquarters asserted that on the basis of "private information" they believe the Republican nominee was elected by a majority of from 500 to 1,000 votes.

PROPOSAL THAT PRESIDENT RESIGN SCORNFUL BY MARTIN

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—A proposal that President Truman resign and give Republicans full control of the federal government was scorned today by Gov. Edward Martin, U. S. senator-elect.

"That isn't the American way of doing things," he declared.

"There is no reason why a Democratic president and a Republican congress can't work out a program relating to foreign and domestic affairs that will unite our people," the chief executive asserted.

The proposal was made by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D., Arkansas). He suggested Truman turn the presidency over to Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R., Michigan), after appointing him secretary of state.

"We must all be American first and then be loyal to the party," Martin emphasized.

Report Duke-Wally Bound For Coronado

CORONADO, Cal., Nov. 8.—(INS)—Reports published by the London Star that the Duke and Duchess of Windsor planned to settle on an estate near Coronado were viewed with skepticism today.

London reports had it the Duke and Wally would inspect and possibly purchase a "5,000 acre $400,000 estate near Coronado," but it was pointed out that the entire area of Coronado—an island—is only 1100 acres.

Mandate Seen In Election By Governor Martin

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin, elected U.S. senator in the Republican sweep, today viewed the Democratic upset as a mandate to end government controls and extravagance.

"The overwhelming vote given GOP candidates indicated electors 'favor less government and economic government,' the chief executive asserted.

"The people 'do not want governmental interference,' he declared, but look for 'an opportunity of working out their lives in accord with the American way of life.'"

"The governor indicated he would follow the ballot-dictate by supporting measures to eliminate OPA and other restrictions, including rent control.

"As far as rent controls are concerned, my mind is open," he said. "However, we must take into consideration that the people will not build homes unless they get returns on their investments."

Seek More Efficiency
The governor announced he planned to work for more efficiency in government, but would not commit himself to support a senate reorganization proposal designed to reduce committees.

"I haven't had the opportunity of mastering this new plan," Governor Martin said, "but I favor anything which will speed up legislation."

The governor said the outcome of his contest, in which he defeated incumbent U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Gurnea by a 600,000 margin, led him to believe "the people expect the government to provide fine educational facilities, aid in health and in the conservation of natural resources."

"They are now realizing that the man who works must pay all of the costs of government," he explained. "They're also realizing that the Federal debt must be paid if we're to be a free people."

Governor Martin said he had no "pet bills" ready for presentation when Congress convenes in January and added he was "not going to revolutionize" the government.

He emphasized his intention of completing his term of office which expires January 21. The Senate was scheduled to convene January 6.

Tubular Device Enables Midget To Fly Airplane

CLEVELAND, — (INS) — When four-foot tall, 65 pound Chuckie Stein puts his mind to something, there's no stopping the 25-year-old midget he's skating star.

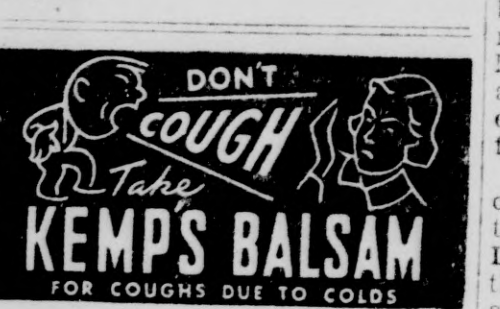

That's why Stein now holds three hours solo time toward a private pilot's license, even though it would seem his small size would handicap him in flying an airplane built to accommodate an ordinary sized human.

Not a trifle with incidentals, Chuckie soon overcame his difficulty with an ingenious device contrived by an Atlantic City, N. J., mechanic.

Pair Of Tubes
The mechanic friend rigged up a pair of metal tubes about 24 inches long with the ends curved into "U" shapes. Strapped to Stein's feet much the same as roller skates, the tubes enable him to reach the rudder-pedals which otherwise would be inaccessible.

A Civil Aeronautics Administration inspector approved the mechanism and Chuckie was able to solo after only six and one-half hours flying time.

Stein has been a member of the Ice Canades for four years.

Youth Delinquency About At End, Says Salvation Army Man

General Alfred Osborn Speaks At Miami, Fla., On Delinquency Situation

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 8.—(INS)—The head of the largest peacetime army in the world had a good word for "so-called juvenile delinquents" as well as the Russians.

In Miami for a brief visit before departing for Latin America, Gen. Alfred Osborn, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, said:

"In Britain, youthful delinquency is already on the decline. It was only the neuroses of war. Youngsters catch the general spirit of war. We've shouted too long and too much about juvenile delinquency."

"Young people of the age are highstrung. They want to build their own temple of youth. I say let them. Every generation amuses itself revising the opinions of its predecessors."

Faith In Youth
"I have faith in youth, and I'm placing my hope for the future in them. I am appointing an international youth secretary to coordinate and help create better understanding and relationship between the youth of all nations."

As for the Russians, Gen. Osborn pointed out that:

"They are permitting us to operate within the Russian zones in Germany, where we work without hindrance and are permitted to wear our uniforms. Certainly, that is a recognition of our religion and place in the religious world."

Ready Plans For Huge Movie Plant At Nevada Locale

HENDERSON, Nev., Nov. 8.—A grandiose scheme to establish a self-sufficient movie studio in the war-born plant of the basic magnesium project at Henderson was revealed Thursday by officials of Allied Studios, Inc.

The president of the five-million-dollar Nevada Corporation, Mark Wallach of New York, explained that "the world's largest studios" would be housed in facilities of the desert project under a 25-year lease from the managers of the government-owned plant.

The space taken by Allied includes three barn-like peat storage buildings designed by British magnesium production engineers and located midway between Las Vegas and Boulder Dam. The structures even cover more than an acre of floor space.

Joe Rock, Allied's executive producer whose record includes more than 50 features in addition to Laurel and Hardy comedies, said that conversion of the project had already been contracted for, and that actual shooting would begin "within 60 days."

Rock concurred with Leon Lee, managing director for the corporation, in asserting that the studio would provide "an answer to the independent producer, who is crying out for a bit of sunlight and stage space to make his pictures." Lee explained:

"Allied Studios promise to have the answer. There are 360 days of sunlight a year. It's located a couple of hundred miles from the nearest capital, and has over two acres of floor space under one roof."

Penicillin Now Being Produced By Synthetic Means

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The wonder-drug penicillin now is being produced by swift chemical synthetic means in place of the former lengthy natural process of obtaining it from bacteriological mold.

This historic development in the age-old war against disease was disclosed today by the magazine Newsweek, which obtained its information from the journal "Science."

Five biochemists of the Cornell University Medical school were credited for the new advance in medicine, which was hailed as the greatest step in conquest of disease since original discovery of penicillin by Britain's Sir Alexander Fleming in 1929.

The scientists who succeeded in putting chemical synthesis to work in production of the curative drug by purely scientific means, reducing its cost and increasing its output, were headed by Prof. Vincent Du Vigneaud, chief of the department of bio-chemistry at New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center.

Others who contributed in major measure to this new development were Drs. Arthur H. Livemore, Frederick H. Carpenter and Julian R. Rochele. Fifth member of the team is Robert W. Holley, now completing his doctorate degree at Cornell.

Scientific experts listed advantages of the discovery as including elimination of present costly investments in present "cultures" of penicillin, creation of a whole new "family" of disease-combating drugs and assaults against ailments that heretofore have been immune from penicillin treatment.

2,464,000 STILL ON US PAYROLLS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The federal payroll has been cut to 2,464,000 employees from a wartime peak of 3,770,000, amounting to a 35 per cent reduction since June 30, 1945.

The Civil Service Commission reported, however, that there still are 2½ times as many government workers now as before the war.

The biggest reduction took place in the War Department. Substantial increases were recorded in the Veterans Administration and in the post office.

American Legion To Use Its Power To Throttle Reds

LACROSSE, Wis., Nov. 8.—(INS)—The full weight of the American Legion, under the leadership of recently-elected national commander Paul H. Griffith, was thrown Thursday against "any show of communism in the United States."

Addressing a veterans' rally at Lacrosse last night, Griffith said: "We must preserve the tradition for which our comrades died."

"The veterans of this war believe their service was given to preserve the American way and democracy, so I want my organization under my leadership to fight down communism wherever it begins to show itself."

Griffith's address was his first in the Midwest since his election to the post of National Commander of the Legion.

He said the American Legion will "teach a positive program of Americanism to convince youths and groupings that the American way is better than any other on the face of the earth."

New Proposal By Senator Gets Cold Shoulder

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The proposal of Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark. for a new congressional and presidential election to end congress-executive stalemates today appeared due for a legislative cold shoulder.

Fulbright announced he will offer a constitutional amendment to authorize congress to call abruptly for special elections for its members and for the president anytime that relations between the legislators and the chief executive threaten to bog down the nation's progress.

Under the plan, it would take only a simple majority of both the house and senate to call for new elections.

The senator's plan was advanced in reiterating his proposal that President Truman resign to give the Republicans control of the executive as well as the congressional branch which was reportedly spurned by the chief executive.

Some veteran observers were cynical about the workability of Fulbright's new suggestion. They said they could not imagine a situation that would cause the law-makers, weary from recent campaigning and satisfied that they can best do the nation's work, to vote themselves into a fresh election battle.

MARTIN CLAIMS THIS CAMPAIGN TO BE HIS LAST

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The U. S. senate contest was regarded today by Gov. Edward Martin as his last campaign for public office.

Victor in the GOP landslide which swept Pennsylvania, the governor claimed there would be "no other time" when asked what office he would seek the "next time."

"I'm through," he declared. "You may quote me on that."

The chief executive has 10 campaign victories behind him, including auditor general, state treasurer, governor, U. S. senator and party positions. He has never lost an election.

DAIRY RECORDS KEY TO HERD IMPROVEMENT

Complete records on dairy herds provide the owner with three important helps in herd management.

Records permit an analysis of the results of good feeding and management and the breeding efficiency of the herd and sires. Records also enable dam and daughter comparisons—basis for proving sires and in locating superior producing cow families.

Enterprising, progressive dairy farmers also are giving increasing attention to maintaining healthy herds in good breeding condition, to healthy calves which are well fed and given proper care, and in providing an abundance of high-quality hay and pasture.

Also included in top-notch dairy plans are provisions for good roughage balanced with grain, and fed according to milk production, and condition of cow. Another important factor, of course, is a managed milking program. Managed milking protects udders, results in more and better milk, and saves time, also equipment, since fewer machines are necessary.

Plan To Release 100,000 Cases Of Rationed Whiskies

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Pennsylvanians were advised today by the State Liquor Control board that 100,000 cases of previously rationed whiskey will be placed on sale in state stores without restrictions "later this month."

At the same time, the board announced today 72,000 quarts of pre-war bourbon and rye whiskey have been purchased from the War Assets Administration.

In addition, the board reported that 10,000 cases of scarce Canadian and bottled-in-bond whiskies and 3500 cases of Scotch would be sold under rationing on November 14. The SLCB also scheduled three two-week rationing periods carrying the allotment plan through until at least December 28. The board, however, emphasized, it desired to end rationing "as soon as the general supply of whiskey warrants."

The surplus liquor purchased from the WAA originally had been acquired by the army and navy for medical purposes. The board said the liquor would be rebottled in 90-000 fifths and rationed to civilians under the state plan.

New rationing periods, during which individuals will be allotted one fifth of a gallon and licensees 39 per cent of normal purchases, will run from November 18 through November 30; December 2 through December 14; and December 16 through December 28.

State stores were scheduled to be closed Armistice Day November 11 and Thanksgiving Day November 28.

Redstone Teachers Return To Classes

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 8.—(INS)—Redstone Township teachers returned to their class rooms today after voting unanimously to end their strike which gave more than 5,200 students a month-long holiday.

At a meeting late yesterday the 112 teachers voted to return to work on the provision that they be paid a $400 annual wage increase "at a time worked out by the school board." The board had earlier promised to make every effort to meet the wage demand.

In nullifying the Redstone school officials of their decision, the teachers stated that if the board's promises are broken, they have "immediate power to call an indefinite holiday in the schools."

The board's promises included, besides the wage increase, an adjustment of the salary schedule, payment on a nine month basis and an allowance of seven days sick leave each school term to accumulate up to 35 days.

ICE MAN COMETH NOT
CORVALLIS, Ore.—(INS)—The ice man is out of the postwar picture in this city of nearly ten thousand. The only two ice delivery firms, pleading lack of help and equipment, say they will only sell ice from their plants henceforth.

Vote Exceeds GOP Forecasts

Republican Victory At Election Surprises Leaders By Overwhelming Size

OTHER NEWS OF STATE ACTIVITIES

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Smashing victories turned in at the November 5 general election by Republican state-wide candidates far exceeded the expectations of many Pennsylvania GOP leaders. While many of the GOP top strategists expressed the belief that 1946 would be a "Republican Year" in the Keystone State the sweeping victories—landslides—came unexpected to a large number of top party officials. Some chieftains have explained that one of the reasons the large majorities were not expected was that it had been anticipated that there would be strictly organization balloting.

Another reason advanced by GOP leaders was that they had failed to make a more thorough test of the sentiment of Pennsylvania's electorate. Many of the chieftains had expressed the belief that the GOP would garner "thousands" of votes from Democrats reportedly "fed up" with the national administration. First reactions of some Republican workers to the GOP landslide was that the majorities were "unbelievable".

The GOP victory was complete even down to the legislative districts where Republican candidates unseated at least 48 Democratic house incumbents and three state senators. The three Democratic senate incumbents unhorsed were Sen. B. B. McGinnis, of Allegheny county, minority whip; Edward J. Coleman, of Scranton, and John J. McCreesh, of Philadelphia.

Elections of Republican legislative majorities, many leaders believe, will insure a short, business-like session of the 1947 general assembly. Prior to the election, many GOP chieftains had predicted that unless the Republicans won a decisive victory in the legislative contests, next year's general assembly would have lasted possibly six months. Continued Republican domination of the house will mean that Governor-elect James H. Duff's legislative program can be speedily enacted without much difficulty.

John S. Rice, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, and State Chairman J. Warren Mickel conceded the election shortly before midnight November 5. This was the first time in the memory of veteran Capitol Hill newsmen that a Pennsylvania political party conceded defeat within four hours after the polls closed.

There has been some speculation at the State Capitol as to whether U. S. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, defeated in the general election by Gov. Edward Martin, would be named to a post with some federal agency. Guffey, who campaigned on his support of the late President Roosevelt, has been an ardent follower of President Truman. Unofficial returns placed Governor Martin's majority over Guffey at approximately 600,000 votes.

Some Democrats took the sound thrashing administered by Pennsylvania Republicans in a philosophical manner. One Democrat commented: "Oh, well, there's 1946. We'll win then." In two years the Commonwealth electorate will vote for a president, state treasurer and auditor general as well as legislative and congressional posts. Many majority elections will also be held in 1948. If the Democrats follow precedent, State Treasurer Ramsey S. Black, of Harrisburg, will be a candidate for auditor general. The Democrats have controlled the state's fiscal offices for ten years.

Other Presidents Have Had Hostile Congresses In U.S.

Most Recent Was That Which Confronted President Herbert Hoover In 1931-32

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Four other American presidents since the Civil War have been in the same predicament that President Truman faces today—they had "hostile" congresses.

Most recent president to struggle against a congress controlled by the rival party was President Hoover.

His 72nd congress, 1931-32, was composed of 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite in the Senate, with 220 Democrats, 211 Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite in the House.

In the aftermath of World War I President Wilson faced a situation comparable to President Truman's. In the 66th congress were 49 Republican senators and 47 Democratic ones. In the House were 240 Republicans, 190 Democrats, two independents and one Prohibitionist.

Going back to Democratic President Cleveland's second term, in the days of Populist and the silver issue, the congressional setup of 1895-97 was: Senate, 43 Republicans, 39 Democrats, six Populists; House, 214 Republicans, 106 Democrats, six Populists, one silverite.

In the 46th congress, 1879-80, Republican President Hayes had his troubles. The Senate had 42 Democrats and only 33 Republicans, with one independent. In the House were 149 Democrats, 130 Republicans and 14 Nationalists.

Paper In Manila Charges Americans With 'Terrorism'

MANILA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Liberty News, a Manila paper, carried a front page story Thursday charging United States Marines with "terrorizing" Filipinos in Luzon's Olongapo province.

Under a five-column headline, the story charged that Olongapo Filipinos in the Zambales naval reservation are "still living under the terror of the occupation" with the difference being that the so-called "oppressors" are U. S. Marines instead of Japanese.

The paper outlined what has now become the familiar pattern of Filipino complaints against American military forces.

It was said that the Marines make a practice of forcing entrance into natives' homes in their search for contraband American military supplies.

Recent complaints in the same vein from Palawan Island in the southern Philippines prompted a U. S. Army investigation. American authorities had no immediate comment to make on the charges in the Liberty News.

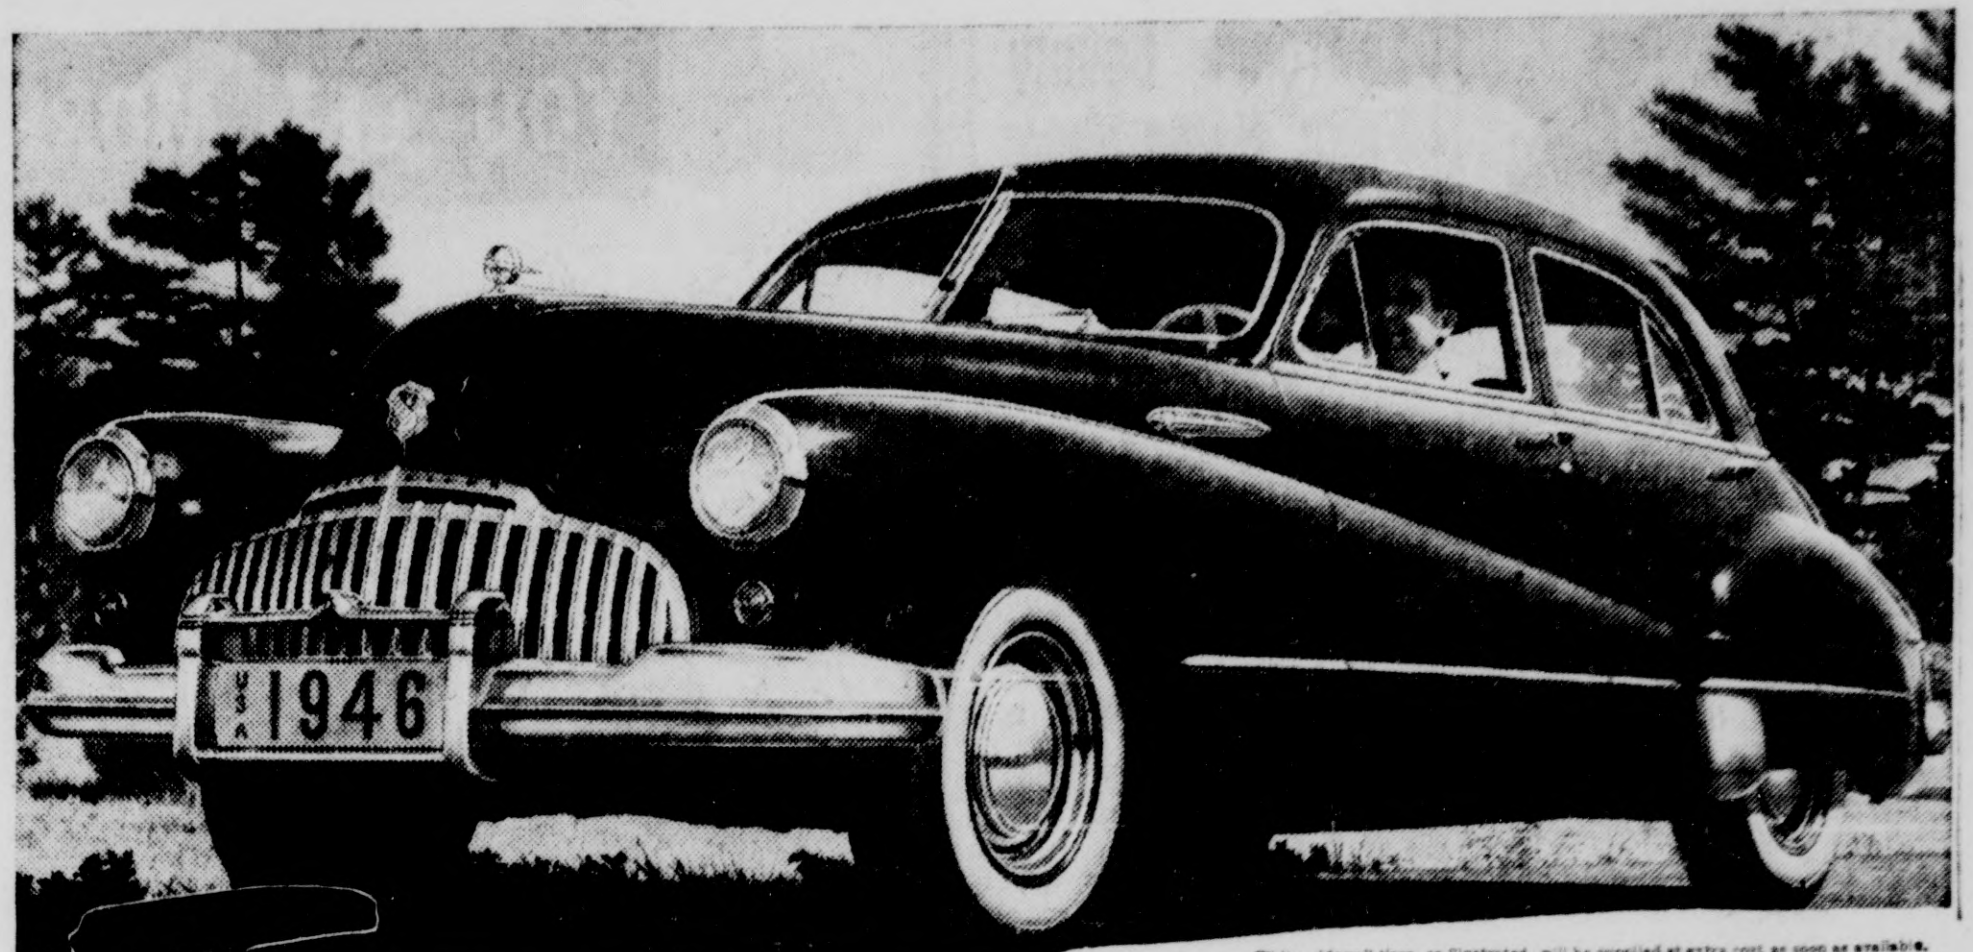

U. S. Will Subsidize Export Of Potatoes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The Agriculture Department announced it would offer to subsidize the export of surplus potatoes.

Possibilities for normal exports are limited by the fact that the price of American potatoes is higher than comparative prices in foreign markets where supplies are short.

The department said it would make government-owned potatoes available to exporters at price competitive in foreign markets, particularly Europe and South America. This offer is prompted, the department said, by its interest in getting as much food value as possible out of this year's large potato crop.

UP IN THE AIR
COLUMBUS, Ind.—(INS)—An astronomical thief has stolen a 10-foot telescope through which many residents of Columbus have viewed the moon and the planets.

This makes up for a lot!

At long last you slip behind the wheel of your very own Buick.

You look around a minute—straighten your tie—grin a little at the handsome picture you know you must be making.

You turn the key. Step on the starter-treadle. Feel those eight big Fireball cylinders take silken hold.

Easy as a breeze, you slip away in two agile tons of steady-going levelness—right then and there a lot that was dark is clear.

You see why this car is the most wanted automobile in America today.

You see why this doubles the problem posed by industry-wide slowness of parts and material flow.

You see why Buick production men are gladly putting every waking hour into ceaseless battle against such log-jams, so that they can supply these sweethearts to the greatest possible number.

New Kensington Skeleton Is Not Youngstown Man

YOUNGSTOWN, Nev. 8.—The skeleton found near New Kensington, Pa., last September is not that of Jimmy Muehe, missing Niles gambler and boxer, Pennsylvania state police said today after studying the results of exhaustive identification tests.

State Detective John Schrin, of the Greensburg police barracks, in charge of the investigation, said that FBI chemical and other tests showed that the skeleton was that of a man of different physical characteristics than Muehe.

Schirin said that the dental work of the skeleton and a record of Muehe's dental work sent in by Muehe's son, Frank, do not compare. State police have "definitely dismissed" Muehe as the person who was, we believe, killed and buried near New Kensington, Schirin said.

FBI reports showed that the skeleton was that of a man who was 40 to 45 years old, five feet, six inches tall, of stocky build, and with a long face, and dark brown hair. He was, the report shows, wearing gold-rimmed glasses, a heavy overcoat and black shoes.

Schirin said that while the tests had eliminated Muehe as a possibility in the identification, they had not yet established anyone else as the victim.

Muehe has not been seen or heard of since April 23, 1937, when he disappeared a short time after being discharged from the Jungle Inn, a gambling joint just north of Youngstown.

WASHINGTON REPORT

dillo looks like an armor-plated rat, but it doesn't show up so badly under the sergeant's deft touch.

One of the tastiest offerings on the whole menu was the sea purslane. This is a plant common in coastal regions in half the world and should have commercial value. It tastes much like green beans. Wild yams served as the other vegetable.

Sea pipes are little bits of green vegetables with a salty flavor. They provided the salad for the lunch. Some people call them jungle celery. "Should be good as a substitute for pretzels—with beer, of course," somebody suggested.

For dessert, there were sappa-dilla, fruit from the same tree as chickie comes from: cactus fruit, coconut meat, and something entirely new to the Washington guests—tamarind seed. The beverage for the meal was green coconut milk.

The meal was most delicious. An ordinary hobby led Sergeant Weaver to this unusual occupation of teaching people to eat little known wild life. Before the war, he used to go hunting, fishing and trapping, thus learning much about the woodlands.

In the service, Sergeant Weaver was put to searching for lost flyers in the jungles of upper Burma, and living off the land. This, and other trips from the far north to the far south, have made him an expert on survival in any part of the world.

SEATING GUESTS AT WEDDING RECEPTION

"Please give me directions for seating the bridal party at a wedding reception."

Answer: Place the bride's table in the most conspicuous spot in the dining room. Or it may very properly be set in a separate room adjoining the dining room, so that the wedding party will not appear aloof to the other guests.

Let the wedding cake be a large one with many tiers and place it in the center of the table. Place the bride and groom in the middle of one side of the table with the cake within easy reach of the bride. Surround it with flowers and flank it with lighted, unshaded candle. If the reception takes place in the evening, and vases or bowls of flowers carrying out the color scheme of the wedding.

Seat the bride at the groom's right, the maid-of-honor at his left, the best man at the bride's right and the bridesmaids and ushers alternately around the table.

Decorations of the other table seating the guests should match those of the bride's table. At one of these tables, the mothers and fathers of the bride and the groom should be seated with any relatives, house guests or intimate friends. The groom's mother sits at the right of the bride's father. The groom's father sits to the right of the bride's mother. The clergyman and his wife, if invited to the reception, should be seated at this table.

Arrangement of the other guest tables should be in accordance with the congeniality of the various groups.

At small weddings, all relatives and guests may be placed at the bride's table, in which case the parents of the bride and the groom are seated at the end opposite the bride and groom. The bridal party should be grouped, as suggested, around the bride and groom. The more important guests should be seated nearest the parents. Those of less importance should be toward the center of the table.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

STIFFNESS

Stiff muscles and joints are not very comfortable. Any unusual use of a group of muscles is usually followed by stiffness.

Possibly the best way to prevent this kind of discomfort is to exercise all of the muscles of the body a little bit every day.

These exercises or motions do not need to be very extensive.

A dog helps to keep his muscles in shape by stretching frequently.

Swinging the arms, twisting the neck, bending the back, walking and stretching may help some.

If you have a hoe or a dish rag or a dust cloth or a broom or a flat iron or a golf club or a lawn mower or a mush ball or a potato parer or a violin in your hand when you go through these motions the benefit will be just the same or greater. The main idea is to exercise all the muscles every day.

VETERANS' UNITS TO DISCUSS BONUS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Leaders of six veterans' organizations were scheduled to meet at Harrisburg today to consider proposals for a state bonus for World War II service men and women. The meeting will be sponsored by the state Veterans of Foreign Wars, VFW Commander John U. Shroyer said leaders of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, Catholic and Jewish War Veterans and the Purple Heart organization had been invited to the conference.

so deeply involved in their own jealous strife.

The new Congress will be out for blood. Jurisdictional strikes will certainly be barred by law. That will be only the beginning. The Case bill, which President Truman vetoed, with its cooling off period and other restrictive features, is likely to be the minimum.

The labor bosses may breathe defiance as in the past. But this time those angry cries will sound a little hollow. In an important test a great body of the rank and file either stayed at home or voted against the dictates of their leaders.

MEETING HELD AT CENTRAL CHURCH

Members and friends of the three Presbyterian churches of the city, Central, First and Main, gathered in the Central Presbyterian church on the Public Square Thursday evening to hear three representatives of the Protestant churches of the Philippines, China and Japan, who had been in attendance at the National Council of Presbyterian Women in Grand Rapids, Mich.

The distinguished foreign church representatives, Dr. Josefa Ilano of Manila, P. I.; Miss Hsiao Foh-Mei of Shanghai, China, and Rev. Tamaki Uemura, Tokyo, Japan, told not only of the events of the council at Grand Rapids, but recounted conditions that have existed in their respective countries during the past ten years and the effect that the war has had on the citizens of those countries.

Dr. Ilano is an outstanding surgeon in Manila. Miss Foh-Mei is dean of the school of the Pure Heart, Shanghai, while Rev. Uemura who is the first Japanese citizen to come to this country since the close of the war, is pastor of the Church of Christ in Tokyo.

Leader Presents Speakers
Introducing the speakers of the evening was Mrs. H. Hugh Bousman, missionary guide for the gospel team. Mrs. Bousman spent two years in China and ten years in the Philippines, where she taught in Silliman university.

Rev. E. Chester Crabb, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Bessemer, opened the program with the invocation. Mrs. George Streicher very fittingly sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the service.

Mrs. E. E. Moon of Sharpville, president of the Shenango Presbyterian, introduced Mrs. Bousman, the guide for the party.

Reception Follows
Immediately following the speaking program, the audience retired to the church parlors where a reception followed and the public was enabled to become personally acquainted with the guests of the evening.

Mrs. Robert M. Patterson, wife of the host pastor, led the receiving line, with Mrs. Oscar E. Rhodes and Mrs. Clifford Propst as co-chairmen of the reception committee.

Responsible for the beautiful floral was Mrs. Delbert Fletcher, chairman of the floral committee. Pouring tea were past presidents of Shenango Presbyterian, Mrs. J. B. Cutler of Sharpville, Mrs. George W. Conway, Central church; Mrs. J. Wylie Brewster, Westfield, and Mrs. C. N. Moore, New Castle.

Miss Blanche Bright and her committee of aides served on the tea committee.

Dr. Robert M. Patterson, pastor of the church, pronounced the benediction.

Drop In Prices Of Meat Reported

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that wholesale meat prices dropped 8.6 per cent for the week ended November 2. It said the decline was due to the huge meat shipments—highest in two years—now pouring to market.

All meats except lamb and cured pork dropped in price. Meanwhile, it reported, over-all average wholesale prices dropped 0.8 per cent for the week, with food prices registering a decline of 2.4 per cent.

MASS PROTEST IS SCHEDULED

Meeting Protesting Against Persecution Of Catholic Church In Yugoslavia Arranged

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—A mass protesting meeting against persecution of the Catholic church in Yugoslavia will be held Sunday, December 1 at 3 p. m. in Convention Hall, it was announced today by Judge Vincent A. Carroll, of Philadelphia.

His Eminence Dennis Cardinal Dougherty will act as honorary chairman of the rally which is sponsored by the Philadelphia Council Chapter of the Catholic War Veterans, Governor and Senator-elect Edward Martin, Mayor Bernard Samuel, and the Most Rev. Hugh L. Lamb, auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, will also act as honorary chairmen.

In announcing plans for the protest rally, Judge Carroll said that the imprisonment of Archbishop Aloysius Stepinac in Yugoslavia "marks another step in the Communist program to impose its pagan preachings and philosophy on the God-fearing peoples of the world."

"This persecution of the Catholic church," he said, "should be interpreted by Protestants and Jews also as a challenge to all religions. On December 1, the vigorous voice of the militant Catholics of Philadelphia will ring out in protest for all the world to hear."

"We invite all who believe in freedom of speech and religion, regardless of race, color or creed to attend this protest rally. Communists consider all who believe in God to be their enemies and although the persecution have started with Catholics, they will soon spread to other religions."

Convention At Bethel Church Sunday Night

The president of Mt. Jackson district is Clifford S. Perrie.

Legion To Honor New Commander

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—State American Legion Head Clyde E. Rankin announced today that the Pennsylvania department together with national and state leaders will honor National Commander Paul H. Griffith at Uniontown, November 15.

Mayor Russell Umbel, a Legionnaire, has proclaimed the day a holiday and called on all citizens and civic bodies to join in paying tribute to the city's distinguished son.

Senator-elect Gov. Edward Martin, it was announced, will serve as official notification on Griffith on his election as American Legion chief for 1947.

Churches To Aid Chest Campaign

Most of the city and county churches will contribute the loose collection from the service on Sunday, November 10th, to the Community Chest Drive. The Resolution to do this was passed by the Ministerial Association, and many county churches also have agreed to do this.

Orders Japanese Hunt Missing Yen

TOKYO, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Gen. MacArthur's headquarters ordered the Japanese government today to investigate present whereabouts of four and a half million yen which three Japanese nationals borrowed from the Bank of Korea in August of 1945.

The money was borrowed to organize the "Peaceful Transportation company" to secretly carry Japanese nationals from Korea to Japan.

It has been learned that one million of the amount was spent for 21 small ships, most of which have been burned or sunk. The men, with the remainder of the money, were believed to have been repatriated to Japan after the military government halted the shipping venture.

Real Estate Situation Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1946, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 8.—The stock market is not the only thing that has had a bump during the past two months. I happen to be vice president of the Newton-Waltham Bank & Trust company with assets of $65,000,000. Naturally, we take a large number of mortgages. Just before leaving on my western trip, it looked to me as if the edge is off the real estate market here in the east.

BABSON Conditions In The Middle-West

Hence, on my western trip I constantly inquired regarding real estate and found that all cities visited told about the same story. Briefly, this is that the demand continues for small houses selling from $8,000 to $12,000, but that the demand for larger houses, even new ones, has fallen off considerably. Real estate agents tell me that property that has been selling for $15,000 or over is now being marked down at least 20 per cent. This applies to older fairly modern houses and also to new houses. Large houses are actually a drug on the market at the present time in some sections of the country. Veterans are gradually getting located. Rumors are abundant that new houses are being built of green wood, with few nails and poor fixtures, which cause the purchasers to be wary of them.

What About Ceilings?

Sooner or later the cost of living will again decline. If labor plays fairly, it will be willing to take a cut in wages, as living costs decline, to offset the increased wages which it has been given as living costs have increased. But whether or not this happens, labor, before long, will do better work and give much more for an hour's wage. This will apply to all wage workers, beginning with those who cut the trees in the woods for the lumber. Hence, those who can wait before buying a new house, should surely do so. The present $10,000 ceiling is not helping.

Now, a word regarding rent ceilings. It may be wise to continue rent ceilings on prewar houses although they should be adjusted to provide for the increased cost of upkeep, etc. But there should be no rent ceilings on new houses built.

(for renting. Otherwise, very few houses will be built to rent and the nation will suffer.)

Farm Investment

The subsistence farm which produces only enough to feed the family, pay taxes and hire a man, but where the owner has a position of business on the outside, is holding firm in price. This is especially true in the case of property within a mile or two of a church, stores, post office, school, etc. Real estate people are looking up such property with an idea of cutting it up into a subdivision of five or ten acres.

While on my trip, I purchased two 160-acre farms. Both of these I can rent at a figure to pay taxes and give me 4 per cent on my investment. This is good enough these days with the security which a good farm offers. In one instance, the farm was within walking distance of a city of 5,000 population. I consider this a safe investment considering the excellent soil, drainage and location on a bus line.

Farming States

During this trip I found an instinctive desire of farmers to want to move in a southerly direction. Farmers in Minnesota are selling and buying farms in Kansas, Iowa and Missouri; while farmers in these central states are selling and buying farms in Oklahoma, Texas and perhaps Kentucky. Although the general movement during the past 50 years has been westward, I think it is now directed southward, although, of course, California is the look-for heaven of most farm housewives. For retired farmers, Florida should not be forgotten; but from an agricultural point of view it is very hard to induce a midwest farmer to swap six feet of black loam for Florida sand even though Florida has the finest climate in the world!

POPS MEET

ROCKPORT, Colo.—(INS)—When two expectant fathers are rushing in opposite directions to the bedside of their respective wives—the result is inevitable.

Two automobiles collided near Rockport. One was driven by Capt. Bernard M. Harrington, racing the stork to his home at Butte, Mont. The other was driven by Stewart Carthage, who was headed for a maternity hospital in Kansas, Colorado, on a similar journey.

Gets Clothes Pins And Smuggled Note

SAN ANSELMO, Cal., Nov. 8.—(INS)—When Mrs. Robert Slivey of San Anselmo purchased some clothes pins she also got a note smuggled into the United States from Denmark.

The note, penciled in a foreign script and dated last Feb. 22, read: "Refuse to buy these clothes pins! They are made by political prisoners in Denmark. We are punished because we fought against bolshevism!"

The note was hidden in one of the boxes in which the pins were packed and contained no other clue to its origin.

Search On For Lepers Who Fled Greek Camps

ATHENS—(INS)—Hundreds of contagious lepers who escaped from the four leper colonies of Greece during the German occupation are being rounded up in a dramatic leper hunt.

Official circles admit there are at least two hundred fifty cases still at large, threatening with the deadliest and most tragic scourge of humanity every one in the communities in which they have been begging and living and hiding.

In addition, the Greek ministry of hygiene believes there are several hundreds of others who have not yet been diagnosed as leprosy. From time to time, they are discovered in remote villages or in the slums of the towns, as a result of suspicious and terrified neighbors.

Sometimes, in the cases of the more advanced stages of the disease, the victims are self denouncing by the appalling disfiguration of their features and limbs.

Little Known

Very little is known about leprosy, except that it is contagious.

In Greece, medical authorities regard the disease as completely hopeless. Little or no research is made for a possible cure, and little or nothing is done to treat the victims of the four colonies. Once a victim is sent to a leprosy house he is doomed to remain there for the remainder of his life.

There are nearly six hundred lepers in the colonies of Greece. Of these about three hundred are women, two hundred and fifty are men and fifty are children. Conditions vary greatly between the colonies. At Spinalonga, in Crete, over two hundred lepers live under primitive conditions in ramshackle huts and have to depend on rain for a water supply. Government plans to modernize this settlement were interrupted by the war. On the islands of Samos and Chios, forty-one and eighteen lepers respectively live under better conditions because money has been donated for their care by local philanthropists.

Most Modern

The largest, most modern, and best-run leprosy house in Greece is at Egaleo, twenty minutes drive out of Athens, in the grounds of the Hospital for Contagious Diseases. Here nearly three hundred leprosy men, women and children are housed under good conditions. Some live in corrugated iron huts; most in clean modern brick buildings. A high wall separates the leprosy house from the hospital, and communication between the two is strictly limited.

The leprosy house is out of bounds to everyone except two doctors, the pharmacist, a priest, the matron of the hospital, and a surgeon or a dentist who on rare occasions is summoned from Athens for emergencies. It is only in very rare cases of serious operations which require skilled post-operative nursing that female nurses are allowed to enter the colony.

They live these lepers in barely furnished dormitories for eight or ten, or, if they prefer, in small rooms for one or two or three. Sometimes, in these smaller rooms husbands and wives, and children if they too have become leprosy, live together in some form of family life. Single men and women are segregated in separate buildings.

On arrival at the colony, they are each provided with a bed, a chair, and a small cupboard.

Bed linen, clothes, towels and other necessities of life they must provide themselves. This causes great hardship in many cases, for the majority of them have been totally abandoned by their families and relatives, and are penniless.

The lucky few who have not been abandoned share their supplies with those who have nothing.

Yugoslav Offer Brings Friction

Offer To Barter Gorizia for Trieste Brings Dangerous Friction In Italian Government

ROME, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Yugoslav offer to barter Gorizia for Trieste—which observers said today would pave the way for ultimate annexation of the port city by Marshal Tito—resulted in dangerous friction within the Italian government.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi, whose cabinet last night rejected the proposal, remained adamant. He contends it is impossible to give up Italian territory—Gorizia, which was voted to Italy by the Big Four.

The Communists, whose leader Palmiro Togliatti brought Tito's proposal from Belgrade, lined up in support of the barter. While the Socialists held to the middle of the road.

Meanwhile, though hopes persisted that direct Italo-Yugoslav talks would result in solution of the frontier and Trieste problems, De Gasperi and other officials were described as aroused at Togliatti for treating Italy's "foreign policy as a private hunting ground."

Elliott Roosevelts Staying At Potsdam En Route To Russia

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt are in Berlin today but you can't prove it by any American military or civilian officials.

The eldest son of the former president probably is the first American citizen, to enter Berlin since the war without the knowledge or permission of U. S. officials.

He landed at the Soviet airport in the capital and was taken directly to suburban Potsdam, where he is reported to be occupying the same house reserved for President Truman at the Potsdam conference in 1945.

Last night he and his wife, the former Faye Emerson, attended a reception given by Soviet Marshal Sokolovsky to commemorate the 29th anniversary of the "October" revolution.

The Roosevelts are going to Moscow but have not stated when they plan to leave Berlin.

Hearing Waived In Mail Fraud By Mother Of Three

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Mrs. Anna Mae Obenstine, 30-year-old Elizabethtown mother of three children, was free today on her own recognizance after waiving a hearing on charges of using the mails to defraud.

U. S. Commissioner William S. Middleton said the woman, arrested at Mechanicsburg Wednesday, was released to care for her children until federal court convenes December 2.

Postal Inspectors John J. Rhoads of Carlisle, and Joseph P. Sherr, of Lancaster, said in an information filed with Middleton that the alleged frauds involved the rental of post office boxes under assumed names while ordering goods from mail order houses and later demanding refunds on merchandise never returned.

The inspectors claimed the woman operated in Middletown, Lebanon and Mechanicsburg.

The amount of money involved in the purported frauds was not disclosed but Middleton termed it "quite a bit."

She was charged with "scheming to defraud and using fictitious names and addresses," Middleton said.

U.S.E.S. Office Closed On Monday

Scheduled Signers For Compensation On Monday Will Be Eligible To Sign Tuesday Afternoon

Due to the fact that Monday, November 11, Armistice Day, is a legal holiday, the office of the United States Employment Service in the Citizens National Bank Building, East Washington and Mill streets, will be closed all day to observe that holiday.

George Gettings, manager of the office, stated that all persons who were originally scheduled to sign for compensation on Monday, will sign their claims on Tuesday afternoon. The office will open for business on Tuesday morning, but only regular Tuesday claimants will be handled at that time.

Plans are under way to transfer the U. S. E. S. in the state back to the state government later this month. Mr. Gettings will be in Harrisburg on November 14, to receive instructions from his superiors on the proposed change. Previous to the federal government taking over the employment service, the office was under the supervision of the state.

State College Survey Probing Reserves Of Oil

School Of Mineral Industries Erects Experimental Sta- tion For Survey Work

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 8.—(INS)—Residents of Centre and Clearfield counties, spying a twin-engine beechcraft flying at low altitude and dropping a "bomb," need have no fear.

It's not a bomb—just a "bird"—and it's all a part of a survey started by the U. S. geological survey and the experimental station of the school of mineral industries at Pennsylvania State College.

The survey is one of the projects initiated by the school of mineral industries as a result of a state grant of $50,000, appropriated to further the development of new as well as known oil reserves in Pennsylvania. To start the project, a rectangular area, 53 by 35 miles, in central Pennsylvania was selected. If findings from this project prove the advisability of continuing the work, it is expected that other areas in Pennsylvania will be mapped.

With a magnetic detector, pre-cambrian rocks beneath the earth's surface are surveyed.

From material recorded on instruments carried in the plane, the geological structures of the pre-cambrian rock can be plotted. Dr. Sylvain J. Pirson, of the laboratory of applied geophysics and geocronology at Penn State, explained. And by studying carefully the structures, areas that may contain oil or gas reserves can be determined.

The magnetic detector is suspended on a cable of wire that are attached to the various instruments that fill the fuselage of the plane. The case that contains the detector is about 6 feet in length and looks very much like a bomb.

The system that will be used was developed during World War II and was found very effective in locating enemy submarines by detecting the magnetic disturbance which they created.

Aerial photographs of the area to be surveyed have been prepared. Dr. Pirson explained, and the course of the plane is charted on the photographic map. The plane will follow parallel lines, each of which is about one-half mile apart, much as a lawn mower travels in cutting grass. The plane will fly at about 1000 feet above ground so as to clear all mountains and will maintain a speed of 125 miles per hour.

Pictures Recorded
When points recognizable on the aerial photograph are crossed, a photograph will be taken from the plane and the picture recorded on the chart on which data picked up by the magnetic detector are recorded. This will enable plotters at the college to match the data with a map.

Surveys conducted by plane are much more accurate than those conducted from the ground. Dr. Pirson explained, since the magnetic detector is not affected by metallic objects on the earth's surface. The planes make it possible also to complete the work in much less time.

Among the communities that are included in the initial area to be surveyed are Bellefonte, State College, Philipsburg, Clearfield, Curwensville, Irwin, Madera, Penfield, Houtzdale, Karthaus, Winburne, and Snow Shoe.

Automobile Club Warns Motorists Of Winter Driving

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Keystone Automobile Club warns that keeping aged vehicles rolling this winter will be a more serious problem than ever before, due to depreciation and scarcity of replacement parts.

The club urged motorists to have their cars put in shape for the cold months, in advance of freezing temperatures. It issued this five-point program at the motorist in avoiding the hardships of cold-weather driving.

1. Make sure the battery is fully charged. A battery showing only one-quarter charge will freeze at 13 degrees above zero, at half-charge it will freeze at zero, but it is good for 98 below when fully charged.

2. Change from a heavy to a lighter oil—even a strong battery will have difficulty in turning over a motor bogged down in heavy oil.

3. Make sure the gas line and carburetor are clean.

4. Check the ignition and spark plugs.

5. Use anti-freeze mixture in the radiator.

Goods Can Be Shipped Over New Alaska Road

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The United States and Canada jointly announced that goods may be shipped in bond from United States to Alaska over the Alaska highway and its connecting roads.

The matter has been under discussion for some time with some criticism leveled at Canada for not making the road was built by the United States for military purposes during the war.

The announcement called attention to the fact, however, that the system is not yet in a condition to permit general civilian traffic and that restrictions on civilian use will remain for some time.

ONE WOMAN WHO

LIKES PITTSBURGH

DESPITE STRIKES

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Most Pittsburghers have been grouching lately about the great number of strikes that have disrupted the normal way of life in the Metropolitan city.

But to blonde, vivacious Eva Vrzalova, 26, of Czechoslovakia, the steel city is simply "wonderful."

A special student at Pennsylvania College for women, Eva said she is in "love" with American clothes, American food.

Eva lived in Prague during the evil days of the Nazi regime and was thrown into a concentration camp for openly opposing Hitlerian tactics.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The American Friends Service Committee has announced that it has dispatched its first team of Quaker representatives to the French zone of Germany to arrange for distributing American food and clothing.

The team expects to establish its headquarters at Freiburg, where it is hoped that a neighborhood center can be provided for civilians.

The Quaker committee is already engaged in relief services in the American zone of Germany. In the British zone, representatives of the American Friends Service committee are cooperating with British Friends. And in the Russian zone, the Quaker supplies are being distributed through the International Red Cross.

The Quakers already have shipped two million pounds of food and clothing to the four zones and Germany. They are being distributed through German social agencies, largely for child feeding.

AIR MAIL VOLUME

WASHINGTON.—(INS)—Gael Sullivan, 2nd assistant postmaster general, has predicted air mail volume will reach 150,000 pounds a year starting in 1948, with one-third of all nonlocal first class letters traveling by air. Today, he said, we have 700 commercial planes carrying mail and by 1948 we will need 3,000.

He also announced that he had called the Senate steering committee into meeting next Thursday at Washington, but declined to discuss in detail what the G. O. P. program in Congress would be.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio declared that the 80th Congress elected on Tuesday would reduce federal taxes by slashing governmental expenses. Taft, in Chicago for a speaking engagement, said that the 43-billion dollar federal budget should be reduced to 25 billions.

MacArthur Ousts Political Bosses In Sweeping Purge

TOKYO, Nov. 8.—(INS)—More than 160,000 wartime local political bosses were ousted in Japan today in a second major application of General MacArthur's "purge" directive of last January.

The new application, announced by the Yoshida government, expelled 162,915 from prefecture, city, county and even village offices.

First application of the purge banned 186,000 from office.

The second application of MacArthur's purge directive was proclaimed by the Yoshida cabinet, which fears it may be swept out of office under pressure of Japan's current political upheaval.

Some aspects of the new purge were more important than the first, in that it hits local bosses who held a tight rein on rural communities.

The cabinet proclamation specifically disqualified former officials belonging to the Imperial Rule Assistance Political Association and Imperial Rule Assistance Youth Corps, which disqualifies virtually every wartime official in Japan.

Membership in these organizations was compulsory and government offices were held by mostly association officials.

The purge was described by Gen. MacArthur's government section headed by Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, as "having the widest scope so far, going right down to village headmen."

Anti-Smoke Drive In Pittsburgh To Be Extended Now

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Pittsburgh will attempt to extend its anti-smoke drive to the entire of Allegheny county this month with a campaign to win the support of residents, it was announced today by county commissioners.

At the same time, the commissioners announced a conference of municipal officials to be held November 18.

Park H. Martin, executive director of the county conference of municipal officials, announced that the United Smoke Council will circulate petitions among residents of the county next week to enlist their support.

Anti-smoke sponsors explained that the city's smoke control ordinance cannot be effective unless surrounding municipalities cooperate.

New Castle High School's Hundred-Piece Band To Parade In Ellwood City

Commander E. Gene Schweinsberg of Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, announced today that the New Castle high school's crack 100-piece band has been secured to head the local delegation in the huge Armistice Day parade and celebration planned for Monday in Ellwood City.

Commander Schweinsberg is expecting a large turnout of members of the local post for the parade. All members having cars will stop at the Legion Home on North Jefferson street to pick up those who do not have transportation, starting at 9:30 o'clock.

The parade in Ellwood starts promptly at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and will pause at the armistice hour of 11 o'clock. Members who have American Legion uniforms are requested to wear them, and those who do not, are asked to wear their service uniforms.

Business Plans To Spend Three Billions

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—Continuing a trend to increase new plant and equipment expenditures, American business, exclusive of agriculture, plans to spend about $3,400,000,000 during the last three months of 1946, the SEC said Wednesday.

The SEC compared the anticipated expenditures with $3,300,000,000 planned for the third quarter and actual expenditures of $2,800,000,000 in the second quarter of 1946.

The estimated outlay for this year's last quarter is 45 per cent greater than the corresponding period in 1945, the SEC said.

If present estimates materialize, the year's entire total will be more than 40 per cent greater than the peak year of 1941, the commission forecast.

DEMOCRATIC HEAD SEES DEFEAT CURE FOR PARTY'S ILLS

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Democratic State Chairman J. Warren Mickle said today a "few years of Republican sway" was the best cure for his party's defeat in the general election.

"The vote was a protest against the times," Mickle stated. "It is history repeating itself. The same thing happened after the last war."

Public opinion would "adjust itself in favor of the Democrats" after the Republicans have been in power for a few years, he forecast.

"Our troubles are over," Mickle declared. "Their trouble is just starting."

"We'll be back good and strong in just a little while."

FORESEE BETTER DEAL FOR FARMERS SINCE GOP VICTORY

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 8.—(INS)—Congressional action more favorable to farmers was forecast by a National Grange official in Portland today as a result of Tuesday's election.

Dr. E. W. Sheets of Washington, D. C., assistant to National Grange Master Albert S. Goss, said the new Congress will contain more lawmakers friendly to farmers.

MARTIN SECRETARY FINISHED WITH JOB

HARRISBURG, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin today was headed for a new career in Washington, D. C., as a result of his election to the U. S. senate, but his secretary, George I. Bloom, planned to return to Washington, Pa.

After a four-year stretch as "man Friday" to the chief executive, Bloom indicated he wished to return to his law practice in his home town. The governor's reaction was: "I wish he could be persuaded to go along."

Boy Scouts Troop Has Investiture

Seven Are Invested As Tenderfoot
Scouts; Pictures Taken; Parents, Leaders Present

Members of Boy Scout Troop X-4 met in the social room of the Mahoning Methodist church on Thursday evening, scoutmaster Bill Bollinger in charge. Senior patrol leader John Hall was in charge of opening and closing exercises.

An impressive investiture ceremony was the highlight of the evening, with Keith Huff, William and Jerome Thayer, Rudolph Roman, Harry Senheiser, Robert Sikes, and Robert Calhoun were invested into the troop as tenderfoot scouts.

Tenderfoot badges were presented by the scoutmaster, and assistants Bill Weitz and Philip DeAngelis. Asst. Chair Arble, senior patrol leader Hall, patrol leaders John Huff and Harold McConnell also took part. Guests present were the parents of boys invested, Dan Carroll, district scout commissioner, Wendell McClure, Rev. Warren A. Bluebe, and Leonard Blasdel of the troop committee.

Scoutmaster Bollinger gave a short talk on the great work the scout movement has accomplished, and can do for young folks of our country in trying to halt juvenile delinquency. He also gave a short history of scouting accomplishments in America, and of this troop since its inception.

An interesting display was arranged on the social room balcony featuring handicraft articles, merit badges and cards, with markers; also handbooks for scoutmaster, air scouts, sea scouts, patrol leaders, and other pamphlets. An American Flag at left of display lent a realistic touch to all.

A moving picture, showing scenic beauty, habits and customs in Mexico, were shown by Bill Weitz. Pictures were taken of the troop and leaders by assistant Weitz.

A pleasant surprise to the scouts was a tasty lunch served by the leaders at close of the meeting.

The Green Bar Council will not meet Sunday, due to scoutmaster and assistants attending the scoutmaster's round table at Camp Clearhawk in Cook's Forest. Next council meeting November 17. Troop committee will have special session Tuesday evening November 12, 7:30, in church parlor; two important items will be discussed.

Westminster Titans Await Battle Saturday With Waynesburg

Battered Titans Hope To Defeat Yellow Jackets

Coach Mel Hetzler Has Five Regulars On Crippled List For Home Struggle

TITANS HOPING TO BOUNCE BACK

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 8.—Coach Mel Hetzler is calling on the medical world today to try and get the battered Westminster Titans football players in shape for the tough tussle with the Waynesburg College Yellow Jackets at the local college field at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Battered from stem to stern in rough Geneva game at Farrell last Saturday, the Titans may be forced to go without six regulars tomorrow. The Geneva game took a big toll in veteran material.

Six Regulars Ailing
Coach Hetzler in looking over the squad last night on the practice field counted six regulars who may not start against the Jackets—Joe Demoss, Mickey McDaniels, Roy Mattocks, Dick Newton, Joe Mastro and Roy Vensel, with Ed Sample, reserve end, the Sharon boy suffering a head injury.

From the backfield that started the Geneva game, Hetzler has but one man, Don Ross, of Wilkesburg, available for service, this young man playing at right-half. The Titans are going to be hard hit for backfield replacements, with big Joe Mastro, Jeanette also on the crippled list, along with another capable sub halfback Joe Vensel of Kittanning.

Play Grove City Next
Waynesburg has not had a very successful season in the first team they have had since the war, but will bring a bunch of fighters to New Wilmington and will probably be just as tough as they always have been for the Titans.

Following the Waynesburg game the Titans will start getting ready for the big game with Grove City College at the Farrell high field on Saturday, November 16. To date the Westminster team has won three, lost one and tied two.

Six Titans will be playing the final game of their careers on the home field. All are veterans of World War II. They are Park Glass of Connelville, one of the best centers in Westminster history; Chal Zech of Pittsburgh, an end; Dick Newton of Ellwood City, halfback; Bob Hope of Wilkesburg, an end; Joe Mastro of Jeanette, a halfback; and Rodney Lane of Johnstown, a guard.

Penn Favored To Defeat Columbia

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Thirty-eight members of the University of Pennsylvania football team will attempt to break back into the win column against Columbia. Still smarting from their upset by Princeton last week, Penn's gridmen are rated two-touchdown favorites over the Lions.

Coach George Minger reported the team in excellent shape except for end Frank Jenkins.

Hill Of Monaca Loses And Neal Of Beaver Falls Wins In Pittsburgh

Art Kimmel, 148, Altoona, who boxed twice here recently, was a "kayo" victim last night in the sixth round at Pittsburgh. Jack Besselman, 148, Lawrenceville, put him to sleep. Clyde Miller, Lawrenceville, scored a TKO over Patsy Hill of Monaca, at 140, but Bobby Neal of Beaver Falls, stopped Billy Squall, at 148, in the second round.

Other returns follow:
PHILADELPHIA — Lou Cassano, 128, New York, outpointed Willie Weasel, 127, Philadelphia (8).
NEW YORK — Rocco Rossano, 143 1/2, Brooklyn, decisioned Juan Carrera, 133 1/2, Puerto Rico (8).

ATLANTIC CITY — Gene Jones, 199 1/2, Camden, stopped Willie Applegate, 194, Bloomfield (3).

Pittsburgh Ironmen Lose To Warriors

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The debut of the new Basketball Association of America in Philadelphia was off to a good start today. More than 4,000 fans jammed into the Arena to watch the Philadelphia Warriors down the Pittsburgh Ironmen, 81-75, in a dazzling, high scoring fray.

'Miracle' Helps Lujack Recovery

Gods that govern the grid destinies of the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame smiled today as it was announced through Dr. Joseph Caton, team physician, that Johnny Lujack, ace quarterback and team spark-plug, will definitely see action against Army tomorrow.

The Notre Dame doctor said that Lujack's recovery from a turned ankle, suffered in practice Wednesday "was miraculous."

Betting odds righted themselves today after news of the Irish star's injury had sent them rocking like a seismograph in an earthquake. It is about even and take your choice.

Church League Meeting Tonight; Practice Session

Senior church league basketball teams will meet this evening at 7:30 in the Y. M. C. A. building with all churches desiring admittance requested to have a representative at the session.

There will also be practice sessions tonight on the gym floor. From 7 to 8 St. Vitus and Trinity will have the floor and from 8 to 9 the Central Christians and St. George will work out.

Irish, Cadets Clash Saturday In Nation's Top Battle Of Season

Saturday afternoon in the cavernous confines of Yankee Stadium—"the house that Babe Ruth built"—the Army and Notre Dame, No. 1 and No. 2 teams in the nation, of vice-versa if you prefer, will settle, once and for all, the mythical national championship for 1946.

Interest in this national pairing of the college grid leaders of the country has mounted week by week as both teams highballed along their schedule trails undefeated and untied. Their head-on smack Saturday will be heard from Maine to California.

Irish Venetian
No follower of the autumn mayhem need be reminded that in the past two years the fabulous Cadets have handed the Fighting Irish stinging defeats, 59-0 and 48-0 respectively. The strategic tactics have haunted the dreams of Coach Frank Leahy and his squad all season long and have provided the Irish coach with the best possible psychological lever to send his cohorts roaring onto the turf with blood in their eyes.

Leahy told the press at the beginning of the season that no team will defeat the Dames by any 48-0 score this season and there is little hope that Army can blast that boast. Saturday's game will provide no such scoreboard manipulations. "The game should and will be grueling, hard-fought and, I would say, murder. One touchdown either way would satisfy the most rabid rooters."

Teams Compared
In comparing the two principles in this mighty gridiron drama there is little to choose as to the well-known "reds."

Both eleven employ the "T", and extremely well. Both have outstanding quarterbacks to make their offense go, and the game will probably decide whether Johnny Lujack, the Irish genius, or Arnold Tucker, the spark of the Cadets, will gain the All-American varsity berth. Lujack is a doubtful starter due to an ankle sprained Wednesday in practice.

Notre Dame probably has the finest line in the country with such behemoths as Connor, Czarski, Mastrangelo, Strohmeyer and Koskowski clearing the way. But you can take nothing from the Army forwards, especially at the ends where Folberg and Poole reign supreme.

Blanchard, Davis Best
In the backfield Army must be conceded a better team. In Felix "Doc" Blanchard and Glenn Davis they possess twin dynamite that need not be further extolled here.

Only at right half is there a flaw in the leather-lugging department. Herschel (Ug) Fuson, the big center, who has been starting most of the games, received a shoulder hurt against West Virginia and will miss the Irish tussle. Elwyn (Rip) Ryan will take up the burden. Notre Dame's ball-toiling corps reflects its brilliance in the pasting and judgment of Lujack and the depth at the other posts. Coach Leahy can send such aces as Livingstone, Mello, Panelli, Clatt, Swistowicz, Ratterman and Sisko into the fray without fear of a weak spot anywhere. None of them are as dangerous as Junior Davis or can thunder like Blanchard but any coach in the country would welcome them with open arms.

Reserves May Be Answer
It is the awesome reserve power of the Irish and powerhouse that may tell the tale. Four "count 'em" teams can carry the Irish banner. (Continued on Next Page)

HAVING achieved a notable record as an amateur, indications are well renowned in pro ranks, providing he sticks to his knitting. His last two fights, scheduled for 12 rounds, ended abruptly in less than three rounds. He flattened Young Zazo in Akron in less than one stanza, and required less than two chapters to "win over" Al Ingram in McKeesport. Possibly, Frankie has heard of, or read of Yi Yi Ernie, a Philadelphia good fighter of some years ago. Whenever Yi Yi stepped into the ropes he would grasp the ropes and while loosening his muscles he would gaze into the audience. If it was large he would take his time in achieving victory, but if the house was poor, Yi Yi would quickly administer the coup d'etat. To show that Moran is one who waxes a versatile attack, it is recalled he hit Zazo on the chin and socked Ingram in the pit of the stomach. According to Frank Plush, salesman, who was in Akron, Moran's knockout of Zazo was regarded highly. In one of his trips to Toledo, Plush met Ad Thatcher, promoter of the Dempsey-Willard championship fight, who always accompanied Luis Carpentero, flyweight, when the Filipino boxed here. . . . A call has gone out to candidates.

Seventy-seven years ago Wednesday, a sports revolution struck the country. Fifty young men, 25 to a squad, representing Rutgers and Princeton, battered each other along the banks of New Jersey's Raritan river. The "battle" was so savage and new to the American scene that, an irate professor of Rutgers shook his umbrella at the players and shouted: "You'll come to no good Christian end." Today the name of the "prof" is forgotten but the game he attacked as "unchristian" has become big business, and one that causes "autumn madness." Yes, that game was the great, grand-daddy of the game that now magnetizes millions every Saturday of fall. Bill Lester, captain of Rutgers and William Guernsey, led the Tigers. Without uniforms they played according to the rules of the London Football Association. One hundred spectators witnessed the game. A doctor was kept busy patching up spectators, not to mention players. Different colored handkerchiefs denoted what side the players represented. Two from each squad were placed near the opponents goal, like "basket-hangers" in basketball. Eleven other men were known as "fielders" and played mostly defensive ball, while the others were known as "Bull Dogs." Looking back and judging the present grid game, football has come a long way since the irate professor "blew his top." . . . Rochester and Westinghouse shared the title in Carnegie Tech bowl, 0-0, in 1921. Ellwood City won in 1925 but lost in an inter-sectional game to Freeport, Illinois, high school, 13-7, and Beaver Falls won the WPIAL title in 1928 when Ne-Ca-Hi had forfeited because of using an ineligible player or players. . . . Fourteen To End Hi Grid Careers At Warren Field

Five Regulars Will Don Moleskins Final Time For New Castle High School

TEAM TO LEAVE EARLY TONIGHT

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" football team was due to leave New Castle at 5:30 o'clock this evening, for the scene of the final game on the 1946 card, at Warren, Ohio. The kickoff slated for eight o'clock, will find a goodly number of local fans in the stands, supporting the Phil Bridenbaugh machine as they seek to end the Warren "jinx."

Fourteen of the young men in the New Castle party headed by Faculty Manager Robert Mills, will be making their last trip as members of the New Castle high squad, five regulars and nine others.

Five Regulars Through
Depending a good bit on the kind of a game it turns out to be not all of the 14 may see action tonight, but five of the regulars—Al Tate, Phil Richards, Don Dean, Anthony Clavelli, and Arthur Zarone are expected to be in there at the start of the game.

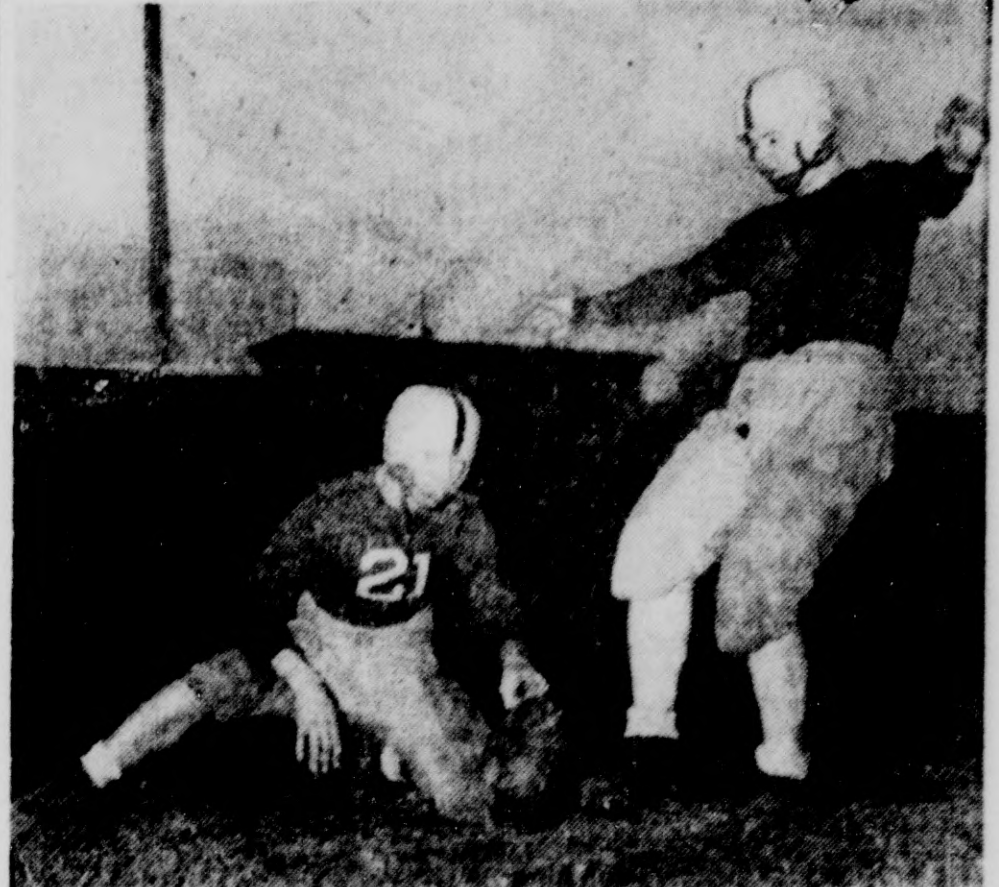

Others who will be donning red and black uniforms for the final time as high school players are—Ira Brown, Eugene Angelo, Matthew Misset, Albert Zarilla, George Morgan, Fred Navarra, Lou Burrelli and William Stoner. Zarilla will probably start tonight at right-half in place of the injured Lou Gilmore. Bridenbaugh stated.

"Beat" Warren
With a "Beat Warren" ringing in their ears, the New Castle team polished off its final workout last night at the stadium and jubilation from the "zip" and fire shown by the boys, Warren is in for a tough evening. It was only a signal drill last night but the boys displayed a lot of spirit and to the last man they have pledged to give their best tonight to try and end the Warren string of victories that has reached five straight, since back in 1940.

Both teams can "shoot the works" tonight. They will not need to hold back for further battles, or for the presence of scouts in the stands. A great aerial battle is looked for. Gene Gribble is all set for a big evening of "pitching them."

Band Going To Warren
The New Castle band is making the trip to Warren tonight for the game, under the supervision of Professor Joe Replogle and will present. (Continued on Next Page)

Red Hurricane Booter

Jack McCoy, sophomore lineman, is shown putting his toe to the ball as quarterback Tony Clavelli holds. The husky member of the Red Hurricane is used as a kicking specialist and has booted six out of thirteen points this season. His best feat was splitting the uprights against Allequippa, gaining the locals a 7-7 tie.

McCoy took over the placement kicking in the third game after Gene Gribble had handled the chore. Used also for kicking-off, McCoy is expected to develop into one of the best conversion men in the recent history of the school.

Pitt Panthers Are Bound For Columbus

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Pitt Panther was apparently headed for its 21st consecutive tamping at the hands of a Big Nine rival today, when 36 of coach Wes Fesler's gridmen boarded a train for Columbus and the clash with the Ohio State Buckeyes tomorrow.

Louis Considers Quitting Ring

Los Angeles Paper Announces Louis Planning To Retire After Jan. 1.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 8.—(INS)—The Los Angeles Examiner said on Thursday that Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis had defended his title for the last time and planned to go into immediate retirement.

Louis, now 32, was said to want to leave the ring at the peak of his career. He has defended his title 23 times since winning the heavyweight championship from James J. Braddock in 1937—more times than any other heavyweight champion in history.

Decides To Retire

The Examiner's story, signed by its sports columnist Vincent X. Flaherty, said Louis confided to close friends that he reached his decision because of the total lack of likely heavyweight contenders.

The Examiner said Louis had made careful plans for the future, but probably would not formally announce his retirement until after Jan. 1. He was said to feel his name would lose publicity value in retirement.

Louis has earned nearly three million dollars since his first professional fight in 1934.

The Examiner said Louis had signed for a series of personal appearances at theaters and wanted to devote more time to his restaurant in New York.

Penn. State's Larry Joe set some kind of a record scoring three times in less than three minutes of play against Bucknell. He carried the ball from scrimmage only four times, and covered a total of 112 yards in five carries.

Falcons Will Return To Hardwood Court With Strong Array Of Stars This Year

An important basketball meeting has been called for Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Polish Falcon hall on Miller avenue for the purpose of organizing a strong basketball team for this coming winter and next spring. Eugene "Gabe" Kendra is the temporary manager of the Falcons and has called the meeting.

The Falcons can blossom out with such stars as Paul Morrison, George "Pop" Adams, Flash Wenda, the four Koszela brothers, Henry, "Cash", Ray and Al Joe Gender, Tom Carey, Eddie Grybo, Walter Fruit, Sharkey, Noga, Chuck Tanner, Freddy Wimmer and others.

Any of the above players who cannot attend the meeting Sunday are to call 9122, Kendra stated.

Christman Leads In Pro Passing

Star Of Chicago Cardinals Has Completed 69 Out Of 136 Passes Tried

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Pitching Paul Christman of the Chicago Cardinals continues to lead the National Football league in passing the football.

The latest statistics reveal he had made 136 passes and completed 69 for a gain of 1079 yards. Nine of his throws went for touchdowns and only eight passes were intercepted.

Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears is second with 58 completions in 123 attempts for 903 yards.

Dudley Leads

Bill Dudley of the Pittsburgh Steelers continues to lead the ground gainers with 437 yards gained in 92 rushes. Frank Filchock of the New York Giants is second with 276 yards in 61 tries.

Jim Benton of Los Angeles leads the pass receivers with 29 caught for 472 yards gain.

Ward Cuff of the Cardinals leads the scorers with 46 points or three more than Dudley of Pittsburgh and Ted Fritsch of the Green Bay Packers.

Fritsch also led the field goal artists with four made in attempts and he made the longest, 46 yards.

a fine show between halves in conjunction with the show that the Warren band has arranged.

New Castle will be well represented at Warren tonight, with perhaps 1,000 or more local fans in the stands at the kickoff. The New Castle team is wearing the black uniforms tonight, Mills announced.

This is the game that New Castle has been waiting for, waiting too long, in fact, for a victory over this big Warren Harding high team that has caused plenty of headaches here for five long lean years. The picture could change tonight, and well we see.

Penn. State will be one of two eastern teams on Pitt's 1947 football schedule. The Panthers will play six Western Conference teams.

Two Problems Facing Nation

Admiral Ben Moreell Speaks At Pittsburgh—Discusses Labor Relations

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—(INS)—Admiral Ben Moreell warned Thursday that the "Individual American citizen is engaged in a battle of survival in a collectivist world" and that industry must assume the role of "Trustee of human welfare" if our economic institutions are to be free of excessive political control.

The former administrator of the government-seized bituminous coal mines declared that our country is faced with two problems—"An external problem of making world peace and an internal problem of making industrial peace."

He suggested that in the latter case industrial executives should spend more time in the study of the individual, to consider him as a human being rather than just a cog in a machine.

Complicated Subject

"Labor relations," he added, "is such a complicated, highly involved subject that there can be obviously no simple solution. This applies to any subject that is heavily charged with emotional influences."

"The big question is how can we protect our democratic principles... and, at the same time, protect the public interest."

"Most of us believe in true collective bargaining but we also believe that collective bargaining must not culminate in action by a few individuals which will do irreparable injury to a large number of helpless people who are not directly involved in the controversy."

Settle By Agreement

He said there "Is no questioning that national legislation has favored an increase in the power of labor union," but doubted that corrective legislative measures would remedy the situation.

"Disputes between management and labor," he declared, "are rarely, if ever, permanently settled by law. They are best settled by agreement when both sides have acted in good faith and in confidence in each other."

He said recourse to legislative action leads ultimately to such procedures as arbitration of wage rates by "panels" and the seizure of private industry by government—"both of which are ultimately ineffective and destructive to the democratic processes."

Adm. Moreell was the keynote speaker at the 11th annual meeting of the Industrial Hygiene Foundation in Pittsburgh.

Traffic Light Legislation Is Being Passed

Council met Thursday in city hall and sent to committee an ordinance introduced by Improvements Director James Gibson which provides for the purchase from the Koontz Equipment company, not more than 15 four-way traffic lights and not more than six flasher units. New traffic signals and flasher units were recommended by the Lawrence County Highway Traffic Study committee, to be installed here and the proposed ordinance was the first legal step toward carrying out the recommendation.
